George F. Tights of 16 Cheney place, George Frenette, 20 Grand street, and Timothy F. Lynch of 123 Andrews street, and Fred Callahan of North Billerica, members of Company M. of the 9th regiment, are back from the border. The three latter arrived home on the theatre train Saturday night, while Tights reached this city at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning, he having stopped off at Rochester, N. Y., to visit relatives. All four were honorably discharged for disability, but the condition of none is serious. Mr. Tights, who was employed as a stereotyper in The Sun prior to his enlistment in the company, is glad to get home and says he will continue to page two

CITY SOLICITOR WOULD FAVOR TEST CLUB CASE

Speaking this morning on the threatened action of the Lowell clubs which are said to contemplate a test case based on his recent ruling on the serving of liquors, City Solicitor Harold A. Varnum said: "There seems to be a general misconception of the opinion, and I think those who are discussing it could not do better than to read it carefully. A test case would serve to clear the air considerably and if such a case is brought it will determine the law."

It was stated at the office of the city engineer that while excavating for the present sewer the old brick sewer laid in 1850 was uncovered. This old sewer was 17 inches in diameter and from 5 to 7 feet in depth. The sewer now being laid is from 10 to 12 feet in depth, and this has been made imperative by the extensive property improvements that are going on throughout the entire length of the street. The street department feels that when it is smooth paved Appleton street will relieve the present traffic congestion of Middlesex street and will go in business importance.

Assessors' Office
The excise tax for 1916 has been declared by the assessors and levied against the Bay State street railway. The amount is $11,101.31 as against $10,299.58 for last year. This tax is figured on the length of the track of the company in Lowell. The method employed is to take 2 1/2 per cent of the gross receipts, and to determine the tax by dividing that amount and then multiply by the number of miles in Lowell.

At the present time the Dummer street gang have excavated all the street preparatory to the laying of a new sewer through the extension and are down to the solid ledge. The commissioner expects to use here for the first time in Lowell the new compressor to take out the rock. It will also be used in excavating parts of Appleton street.

Owing to the fact that the clerks in the assessors' office have been in the city treasurer's office making out tax bills the department has been a little behind in getting out the duplication books which are sent to the state tax commissioner, W. B. Trosky, once every three years.

Several hearings have been heard before the board of assessors based on objections to valuations but there will be no decisions until December at which time the board will give its findings.

Relative to the extension of the Appleton street sewer about which Mr. Morse spoke at the last meeting of the city council, an order will be brought in at tomorrow's meeting to extend the sewer to Elliot street, and there will be an order also to relay the present Appleton street sewer from South street to a point beyond Favor street. In accordance with the plan now followed it will be necessary to correct all sewer troubles on Appleton street before a plan for smooth paving will be put into effect. The street is one of those marked for smooth paving in 1917.

A mild word for this misrepresentation. Why not place false statements in a newspaper or deliberately lie from behind the counter? It's all the same. We make our window displays show you truthfully a few of our special attractions.

Field Marshal von Mackensen's campaign in Dobruja has resulted in the capture of one of its principal objectives, the city of Constantza.

Important Seaport Falls
The occupation of this important Black seaport and easterly terminus of the railway line to interior Rumania is reported in Berlin today. It announced also that the troops of the central powers have crossed the railway to the east of Marfatia, 13 miles inland.

German Push On
On the western wing of von Mackensen's line his troops are approaching Tchernavoda, on the Danube, which is of even greater importance from a military standpoint than Constantza by reason of the bridge on which the railroad from Constantza crosses the river there.

Another Zeppelin Raid
London announces another attack by a German aeroplane on an English town, following yesterday's raid on Sheerness. Margate, the seaside resort in Kent, 50 miles southeast of London, was visited this morning, but only slight damage is said to have been done by the German machine. Two persons were slightly injured. The hostile aircraft was pursued by British aeroplanes.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—In the face of continued violent attacks by the Teutonic allies in Dobruja, from the Danube to the Black Sea, the Rumanians and their Russian allies are still falling back.

Lowell Registration
The corrected and final totals of the Lowell vote registered for the election is as follows:

Ward 1 ..... 1751
Ward 2 ..... 1274
Ward 3 ..... 2247
Ward 4 ..... 1411
Ward 5 ..... 1275
Ward 6 ..... 1359
Ward 7 ..... 2025
Ward 8 ..... 2350
Ward 9 ..... 2170
Total ..... 16,365

The total last year for the state election was 15,674. This marks an increase of 691 and is the largest check list that Lowell has ever had in a city or state election.

GERMAN CRUISER MUENCHEN
DAMAGED BY BRITISH SUBMARINE

BERLIN, Oct. 23, via London.—It is semi-officially announced that the vessel torpedoed on Thursday was the small cruiser Muenchen, which was slightly damaged and returned to harbor.

The British admiralty announced on Saturday that a German light cruiser of the Kolberg class had been torpedoed on Thursday morning in the North sea by a British submarine. The statement said that when last seen the cruiser was steaming slowly toward German waters and was in evident difficulties. The Muenchen was built in 1901 and displaced 3250 tons. The Kolberg is a vessel of 4350 tons.

GERMANY TO RETRIEVE TEN THOUSAND ITALIAN
CIVILIANS

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Germany is about to retrieve ten thousand Italian civilians who are held in military service and who have been interned in Germany, according to news despatches from Rome. It is stated that the German authorities lack the means of feeding these prisoners and will send them home by way of Chisasso.

BULGARIANS REPORT NEW SUCCESSES OVER THE RUMANIANS

SOFIA, Oct. 23, via London, Oct. 23, 7:55 a. m.—The Rumanians have been driven back to six miles of Constantza on the Dobruja front, according to an official statement issued by the war office. Eight guns, 20 machine guns and much war material have fallen in the hands of the Bulgarians.

The statement follows:
"Macedonian front: The situation is unchanged. Our counter attack in the Cerna bend is developing successfully. We repulsed a weak attack against the village of Tarnova in the Mogienica valley and on both sides of the Vardar. On the Aegean coast the enemy's fleet bombarded the heights near Orsono and Lefters.

"Rumanian front: Near Kladovo and Silitia there was a bombardment on both sides of the river. In the Dobrudja we definitely broke the enemy's resistance. Our right wing occupied the village of Tekrghiol and arrived within about six miles south of Constantza. Eight guns, 20 machine guns and much war material were captured in addition to 200 more prisoners."

George Teel, a well known resident of this city and former janitor of the Cheever and Cabot street schools, died this morning at his home, 34 Ford street after a lingering illness, aged 71 years. He is survived by his wife, Lucy N. Teel; a daughter, Mrs. C. A. Spaulding of Everett and a son, George E. of this city. Deceased was a member of Post 42, G.A.R.

George Teel was born in this city 71 years ago and always resided here. In 1882 he enlisted in Company E, Heavy Artillery at Deerfield, N. H. and served in the Civil war. For a number of years he was connected with the Lowell fire department, his service dating back to the early days of the horse drawn apparatus. It was while in the department that he was injured.

Over 30 years ago he was appointed janitor of the Cheever street school and when this school was abandoned a few years ago as a public school he was transferred to the Cabot street school. About a year ago on account of incapacity he was placed on the pension list and since that time his outside visits have not been very numerous. Mr. Teel was a prominent figure in the vicinity of Cabot street and all who knew him had a good word for him.

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE, Oct. 23, via London.—More than three and one-half months of battle on the Somme, with the heaviest concentration of artillery, infantry and every type of war material and the most skillful and desperate fighting the world has ever known, has resulted in marked development of British fighting efficiency and of means for reducing the losses of the attackers. In the way of concrete achievements, the British have taken 30,000 prisoners, or a little less than 1600 for each of the 21 villages captured, with an average population of about 300 souls. They have taken 125 guns, 100 trench mortars and trench guns and 429 machine guns. They have not lost a gun.

never return to the service unless it is actually necessary.

While he speaks very interestingly of his experiences, he did not care about making any statement relative to the usage the soldiers received at the hands of the commissioned officers or the food that was served. Many complaints have been received of the manner in which some of the officers have acted and the kind of food served, but he said he would prefer to have the story given out by the boys when they returned home.

One of the quartet, however, when seen by a representative of The Sun, stated that some of the officers were very officious, that the food was poor and that when the company returned the citizens of Lowell would have enough to convince them that there is "something rotten in Denmark."

stopping, there was always a crowd of the populace present to cheer us as we went through.

Lone Star State

"It took us two days to pass through the state of Texas. Sometimes we would go for four or five miles without seeing a house of any sign of habitation. It was about 7.45 at night that we reached El Paso and all of the boys were glad to get off the train and stretch their limbs. We landed within 100 yards of the Mexican border and the first thing we did was to throw up the pup tents. The place was a regular desert and the sands were up to our ankles. Despite the fact that we were but a stone's throw from the border and were informed that Mexicans were on the other side, we were so tired that we forgot the enemy for the time being and crawled under the tents and went to sleep. Company Pot guard duty that night, but if any greasers, or spiks, as they are called down there, appeared all of a sudden the guards had the bayonets or the butts of their rifles for there was not one round of ammunition in the company.

"The next day we got the regular pyramid tents, which accommodate a squad, and these quarters were more comfortable. It was 105 in the shade when we reached El Paso, but owing to the fact that it was night we did not mind it, but the next day the perspiration started to flow.

Leveling the Land

"We spent two days in leveling the land and aligning the tents and building company streets. It was four days after arriving that we received word to sleep on and their arrival was very welcome for it reminded the boys that they had been used to sleeping on something similar at home. The cats, however, were not of the best material for they could not stand much rough usage. Sometimes the cats got torn and broken so that they were thrown away and then the boys would have to sleep on the ground until others were secured.

"It was after the boys of Company M had been at El Paso for four days that they got their first taste of guard duty, at that time it was called guard post duty, but now it is called interior guard duty. Ammunition had not arrived at that time, but about two weeks later the ammunition arrived, 210 rounds being given to each man.

Dropped by Wayside

"There were hikes every day and although they consisted of but five miles at first many of the boys dropped by the wayside from exhaustion, not being able to withstand the heat. Gradually the hikes were lengthened to ten miles every day, but despite that fact Company M boys seemed to stand the work better than the members of the other companies. In fact they were complimented on many occasions for their appearance at the end of the jaunts.

"On July 15th, the second detachment, the rookies, arrived and the new arrivals were received with cheers. During the early part of August we went out on guard duty and maneuvers under the command of a sergeant named to Canutillo, New Mexico, which is a very quiet old town, reminding a person of scenes of the wild west as seen in the movies. The people of this place were very kind and conducted receptions and dances for our enjoyment. At this place we saw many rattlesnakes.

"Matters became monotonous at times and many of the boys were anxiously awaiting an opportunity to cross the border and enter actual warfare; either that or get back to good old Lowell, but the only signs of warfare we got was an occasional shot sent across by some sniper.

Wouldn't Discuss Food

When Mr. Tighe was asked relative to the food that the soldiers received he refused to talk. It has been stated on many occasions that the food was poor and the rations inadequate, but Mr. Tighe suggested that the reporter see one of the officers when the company returns to this city.

"There were certain other reports of ill treatment on the part of the officers, but Mr. Tighe also refused to talk on this matter. He said he was very glad to get back home and that he would never return to the front unless it was really necessary for him to fight for his country.

"Lieut. Paul M. Kittredge, of Company M, said Mr. Tighe, is the most popular man in the regiment. He is kind to all the men and always ready to do what he can for them."

The Sand Storms

Mr. Tighe talked interestingly of many incidents and events in connection with his stay in El Paso and elsewhere. Speaking of sand storms he said that the boys got their first sand storm about one week after their arrival at El Paso. He said the clouds gathered for a sand storm just as they gather for a thunder shower, but there's no thunder shower, he says, to compare with a sand storm. George allows that a sand storm is in a class by itself. "You can see the thing coming for a distance of a mile or

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

more," he said, "and the swirling body advancing in cyclone fashion is a sight long to be remembered." He said it kind of struck terror into the boys at first, but they got used to it for they were as frequent as showers in old New England. He said that if the sand gets on one's lips it cracks them and to stand the midst of such a storm one experiences the feeling of suffocation that might be experienced in a building full of smoke. To prepare for the sand storm the tents are closed as securely as possible, but even then the tents are frequently blown over and general disturbances created. Mr. Tighe says that sand storms are sometimes visible for an hour before they reach the spot from which they are observed.

The Mexican "Spick"

Mr. Tighe also spoke about the Mexican guards on the east side of the Rio Grande and furnished a funny story about them. He said that the Mexican guard, or "spick" as he is called, has a weakness for uniforms and it doesn't make much difference what combination he plays as long as he gets the uniform. Sometimes it will be a big pair of riding boots and a pair of white socks and any kind of an old hat suffices to complete the costume of which the "spick" is more than proud. He is sometimes seen in the uniform of the United States soldier and no questions are necessary as to how he came by such a uniform.

At Fort Bliss, Mr. Tighe said the soldiers are the Central light, and they told him it was something terrible the way they were used by the Mexicans. Their clothes were taken off their backs and they were sent back sans clothing of any description. They claimed, however, that the Mexicans are a bunch of cowards and that there is no such thing as a man to man fight. A dozen or more of them will surround one man and riddle him with bullets. They were all of the opinion that if the United States soldiers ever went in there on real business they could clean the Mexicans up in less than six months.

WATERWAYS COMMITTEE

Charges Lack of Team Play Between Police Department, Ambulance Corps and Physicians

The following is contained in a letter from the committee on waterways to the mayor:

"Your commission wishes to report on several matters which have been occupying its attention during the past month.

"The city's part of the new fencing at the foot of Chestnut street is completed. The Wamesit Power company is about to finish the strip belonging to them, thus closing this dangerous spot, with a uniform metal fence. The fence along Wall street has been rendered unimpaired by addition of barbed wire strands. The fencing along Varian avenue at the Falls has been installed so that this place is now made safe. The commission hopes that the sidewalk will be widened here and that an ornamental fence will be constructed from this spot to the approach to the new bridge. The Lawrence Street bridge, over Hale's brook has been made perfectly safe by wire fencing on both sides. The fencing at the foot of Clark's and Joiners courts is under construction and should be completed by next week.

"The commission reports that there are spots in the iron fencing along the Andover Street bridge over the Concord river that should be repaired at once by the street department.

"Several rescues have been made during the past few weeks, some of them by means of ropes and buoys recently installed, and others by individual rescuers. To these the commission heartily thanks the boys of the city of Lowell.

corps, the city physician and the district physicians, in the treatment of accident cases reported to police headquarters. This has been due, not to lack of willingness, but to lack of system in such matters. The commission hopes to rectify this within a short time.

The police life-saving boat has been fully equipped and is now ready for emergency calls. The truck to carry the boat will soon be placed at the police station."

FEATS OF MEMORY TRAINING

Tonight at the Y.M.C.A. hall there will be a demonstration of what may be accomplished through the training of the Barol System of Memory Training. Mr. C. Howard Ellinwood of Boston, assisted by students of last season's classes, will be the instructor. Many interesting and astounding illustrations will be propounded. These will show one how to utilize his or her brain capacity, instead of making use of only a small portion of the intellectual powers. Mental training is as essential for the mind as physical training is for the body. Few are gifted with naturally tentative memories, but they can be cultivated, and it will not be hard if attacked in a scientific way. No doubt it is a benefit to those in all walks of life. Sleepers are changed into enthusiasts after attending a demonstration. Therefore this demonstration tonight at the Y.M.C.A. hall is open to the public, both ladies and gentlemen being most heartily welcome. The time is set at 8 o'clock. It is quite likely that the hall will be filled to overflowing as it was last season.

CANADIAN TROOPS HAVE ARRIVED IN ENGLAND

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 23.—The Nova Scotia Highland brigade and several other Canadian military units, together consisting of 276 officers and 5529 men have arrived safely in England. It is officially announced.

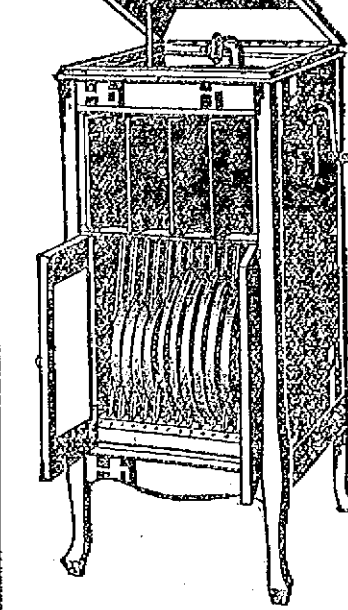

The sailing of the transport, from this port in the gray twilight of the late afternoon of Oct. 13, five days after the German submarine U-53 had sunk five vessels in the steamer track off Nantuxet Island was a military secret, and there was no public send off. Only a few lonely watchers on the Citadel heights saw the big liner as she put to sea. On board, beside the 58th, 185th, 193rd and 219th Nova Scotia battalions were the 188th Saskatchewan battalion, half of the 166th Toronto battalion, the Drafts-Dental corps and the Canadian Royal Flying corps. But while the date of the actual sailing of the transport was not announced, the preparations for it were made the occasion of a three days' demonstration such as even military Halifax had never before witnessed. Thousands of persons from far and near came to see their relatives and friends march aboard the ship. The streets were thronged and flags and bunting were displayed everywhere. Late in the evening of October 12 the last battalion went on board. The transport remained at her dock until early the next morning, when she withdrew to the harbor, from which she sailed quietly late that day.

ENTENTE MAKE NEW DEMANDS ON GREECE

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The presentation by the entente allies of further demands on Greece, including the removal of Greek troops to the southern part of the country and the handing over of Greek war supplies is reported by Reuters' Athens correspondent.

The despatch, which is dated Friday, says the demands were presented to King Constantine by the French military attaché. Greece is required to transfer the entire military force in Thessaly (on the rear of the allied forces in Macedonia) to Morea (the peninsula forming the southern extremity of Greece). ## 2 KILLED AND 3 HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Oct. 23. —Edward C. Morse, former postmaster of Lyndon, Vt., and his wife, a prominent club woman, were instantly killed, and three young women injured, when their automobile rolled over a 15-foot embankment and turned over, here last night.

The three young women injured are Miss Maude Weatherhead of Lyndon, a Lowell seminary graduate, and Misses Alice Bancroft and Amelia Lee, teachers in Lyndon academy. Miss Weatherhead was taken to her home unconscious. Miss Bancroft is hysterical and the extent of her injuries are unknown. It is believed both are seriously hurt. Miss Lee is slightly cut and bruised. Miss Weatherhead conducts the Lyndon tea shop.

The party was returning from Miss Bancroft's home in Calais where they passed the day. The front lights on the Morse car were not bright. Morse turned out for a car coming from the opposite direction and the machine went over the bank, turning upside down and plunging all the occupants underneath.

Miss Lee cried for help and neighboring farmers went to their assistance. When the car was raised, Morse was dead. His wife breathed only a few minutes. Both had been crushed under the front seat.

Near the same place, about a week ago, a boy was struck and killed by an automobile.

Morse was the proprietor of a general store and was postmaster under the last republican administration. He was 60 years old, and had been in business about 16 years. His wife was about 40 years old and a member of a number of women's clubs and was prominent socially. They leave one son, Leslie, 14 years old.

JOHN J. NUGENT ASPHYXIATED AT GAS WORKS

John J. Nugent, an employee of the Lowell Gas Light Co., aged 51 years, and residing at 9 Coburn street, was overcome by gas while at his work at the works in School street late Saturday afternoon and died without gaining consciousness. Mr. Nugent went into the refueling room for the purpose of removing a plug from one of the pipes and while attempting to adjust it later was overcome. He was found in an unconscious condition, but all efforts to revive him were fruitless. Deceased leaves his wife, Mary; four sons, Henry J., George E., Herbert T. and Austin J.; one daughter, Mrs. Allan Thomas; two brothers, Thomas and Michael of Ireland, and a sister, Mrs. William J. Wilson of this city. Deceased was an old and valued employee of the Lowell Gas Light company and was a member of the Gas House Employees.

COAL PRICES GO UP
BOSTON, Oct. 23. —The retail price of anthracite coal has been advanced again by local and suburban dealers. This time it has been advanced 75 cents, stove 50 cents, and furnace, nut and pea 25 cents a ton. The new prices are: Furnace, $7.50; etc., $7.75; stove, $5.75; nut, $3.50, and pea, $3.50 a ton. Franklin now sells for $10 a ton.

BOSTON, Oct. 23. —Miss Lillian E. Blinn, a 22-year-old waitress, of 1022 Tremont street, whose fiancé, John S. Jumper, a Portland, Me., widower, is now under arrest in Portland, charged with arson, declared last night that she will marry Jumper as soon as the ceremony can be performed.

LADY LOOKABOUT

The Lowell Teachers' Organization is doing much to form classes in the university extension courses offered by the state. Many of the courses offered are of college grade and are patterned directly on the courses of leading colleges. In many cases instructors are taken directly from these colleges. In the case of the trades and domestic science courses, the instructors are men who have made successes of their particular lines of work. These courses are given wholly without charge, and only a nominal fee is charged for registration. For a long time a big demand for something of this nature has been felt in Lowell. Saturday afternoon sessions throughout the school year saw many men and women going to Boston to the various educational institutions at large expense to themselves both for the courses and for fares. It will be a great disappointment to those who are trying to bring these advantages to Lowell people if they do not respond and make the most of this wonderful opportunity. In another column attention is called to the meeting to be held at high school hall on Wednesday evening at which the plan of work will be fully outlined and an opportunity given to all who wish to register for the different courses. The aim of the state to place these opportunities within the reach of all should be appreciated by every man and woman in the city, and the success or failure of the movement depends wholly on the response of the public to it.

New Fur Coats
The fur coats shown this season suggest the Russian lavish use of skins in their voluminous fullness. Billows and billows of the short haired furs form these garments, while about the bottoms, the sleeves and the deep collars are broad bands of luxurious long hair fur. The effect is suggestive of snow storms, sleigh-bells, coolness, and least but not least, high prices. These coats cannot be imitated in less expensive materials, and many will consider that an advantage. The muffs, however, go to the opposite extreme; they, round, not much larger than a tea cup, they redeem what otherwise would be clumsy when worn with a fur coat. Combinations of fur are used in these muffs, seal with a band of ermine about it, being especially favored. These muffs have been copied faithfully from that worn by Madame Lebrun, the famous French artist in one of her pictures of herself and are the embodiment of all that is exquisite and dainty.

Suffragist Satisfaction
An amusing inconsistency of anti-suffragists is the satisfaction they claim to get from indirectly directing the votes of their menfolk. They feel that they themselves are not capable of intelligently assuming the burden and responsibility of the ballot, yet they are satisfied that their male relatives take "tips" from them. Is it not true to the record some women seem to have made for all women? Reliable statistics point to the fact that there are more than 9,000,000 men and more than 9,900,000 women twenty years of age and over, in the United States who have no homes. One third of the adult population of the country is living in tenement houses outside the home relationship. Although it is often said that the family is the unit of representation, these homeless men are given the right to vote. Why not the homeless women? Where are the fathers, husbands, and brothers to represent these millions of women at the polls? There is a valuable suggestion hidden in this paragraph if the anti-suffragists are astute enough to see it. They would organize a few—what shall I call them?—get together clubs for the homeless, the figures I have given would soon change.

The Canning Season
At this season of the year, all home magazines and the women's pages in the newspapers are filled with recipes for cooking, preserving and canning the surplus fruits and vegetables which abound at this time. As one reads over these receipts, he is impressed more and more with the fact that the cooks of the country are doing their best to create artificial palates in the American people. The delightful natural flavor of apples, pears, peaches, grapes and the rest, is concealed and disguised by spices and vinegar, until one is forced to conclude that the fruit itself is used only to give bulk and body to the dish, and not for itself. This is all the more realized when one finds a conserve with grated potato or carrot taking the place of a fruit. The result is so speed and pickled that one may well think he is eating peaches instead of grated carrot. This is not art applied to cooking. Instead it is artifice of a poor sort. No chef can improve on the exquisite natural flavor of a fruit, and it would seem that the best chef would work to enhance the natural flavor, rather than to disguise it. In this land of plenty, the national palate should be trained to demand natural and not artificial flavors and often inviting disguises.

BANK PRESIDENT RESCUES THREE IN HARBOR

BOSTON, Oct. 23. —Max Mitchell, president of the Cosmopolitan Trust company, plunged into the waters of Boston harbor yesterday afternoon, and after he had rescued one drowning man, assisted another man and his wife into a motorboat.

Two men had been plunged into the water, two miles off shore, when a dory, from which they were fishing, overturned. The wife of one of them dived from a nearby boat and grasped her husband. She kept him afloat until Mitchell came to her rescue. The quartet were assisted into a motorboat by Nathan Gordon, the theatrical man, and Max Schoolman, a well known Boston real estate dealer.

At the Bayside landing, Nantasket, where the party was landed, all that was learned was that they were Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter of North Adams, and Mr. Hewat, also of North Adams.

The North Adams people who figured in the accident were believed, late last night, to be Dr. and Mrs. Robert G. Carpenter of North Adams and Harry A. Hewat of Briggsville, a suburb. It was learned in North Adams that Hewat, who is a prominent manufacturer and a member of the firm of Strong, Hewat & Co., was in Boston as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Robert G. Carpenter. It was said in North Adams that they were at "some beach near Boston."

The rescues were accomplished in waves a foot high, kicked up by a stiff wind.

Mitchell and Gordon, in Schoolman's motorboat, had run about two miles off shore and anchored between Bumpkin Island and the Hull Yacht club. Mitchell entered a dory and had cast off to fish by himself when the accident occurred.

The boat in which Carpenter and Hewat were fishing and the boat in which were Carpenter's wife and another woman were about 200 yards apart. Mitchell had rowed to within about 500 yards of them when Carpenter started to pull in the anchor of his craft.

Mitchell was some distance away when Carpenter suddenly slipped and fell overboard. The dory overturned and both Carpenter and Hewat were floundering about in the water.

Hewat was unable to swim and sank immediately. Carpenter struggled in the water and his wife dived after him. Mitchell got Hewat into the former's dory and then turned his attention to Carpenter and his wife. The motorboat with Schoolman and Gordon was racing to the scene of the struggle, and other fishing parties in the vicinity hurried towards them in the water.

When all had been safely landed in the motorboat, the craft was raced at top speed for the landing at Bayside, Nantasket. In the confusion following the accident the North Adams people disappeared before anyone could get their names had been learned.

Mitchell made light of the matter last night, and said that he had no idea of who the people were that he had rescued. He knew them only as the Carpenters and Hewat.

MRS. CARRANZA COMING TO THE UNITED STATES

WIFE OF GEN. CARRANZA, HER TWO DAUGHTERS AND MRS. OBREGON QUIT MEXICO

LAREDO, Tex., Oct. 23. —Mrs. Virginia Carranza, wife of General Carranza, in charge of the executive power of the de facto government of Mexico, accompanied by her two daughters and Mrs. Alvaro Obregon, wife of the Mexican minister of war, arrived in Nuevo Laredo yesterday from Mexico City on a special train. They would not discuss their trip nor its object.

Alonso B. Garret, American consul at Nuevo Laredo, has been instructed by the state department to show the party every courtesy in entering the United States. They will leave today for San Antonio. Mrs. Obregon is expected to go later to Los Angeles.

VISIONS OF PEACE

Church Must Take Her Share of Blame for the Present World Conflict

"Visions of Peace" was the subject of the sermon delivered by Rev. Herbert A. Barker, pastor of the Elliot Congregational church, yesterday.

Home of William Kelley, Bedford, Mrs. Bollington, the driver, was turning her machine around and backed onto the car tracks directly in front of the electric car at Lowell. The machine was turned completely over and Mrs. Bollington was pinned beneath the car. The girl was thrown out. The passengers on the electric lifted the automobile and removed Mrs. Bollington from her position. She was then rushed to the hospital.

RED LIPS AND HEALTH

The first place that anemia, or thin blood, shows is in the lips and gums and the membranes that line the eye lids. You may be naturally pale and still be healthy but when these membranes lose their bright red color your blood is deficient in quantity or color. Thin blood is a danger. It invites disease. The organisms of the blood fight off disease germs. Thin blood means less power to do this. For instance, when you cut yourself it does not heal so quickly if your blood is thin and weak.

To build up the blood there is one remedy that has been a household word for a generation, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, strengthen the nerves, increase the appetite and drive away that unnatural tired feeling. Plenty of sunlight, good wholesome food and fresh air will do the rest.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" give just the information that every mother of a growing girl needs. They are free. Write for them today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

morning. He made application of the bible pictures of the time when peace would prevail to conditions of today. He spoke in part as follows: "We cannot afford to let perish the vision of a day of peace. We lose our reason, if we do. What use to do any good at all? Why strive for the uplift of humanity, if it is all to be buried in hate and murder? We have done with becoming pessimists and have done with being pessimists. What would happen to the peace? What would happen to the Armenian people, for instance, in their present horrible suffering, if they could not look forward with some degree of hope to a brighter day, when their shackles will be broken and they may live in peace.

"The church must take her share of blame for the present world conflict. The church must bear her share of disgrace and sorrow for her miserable failure in the day of need.

"Do we dare to say, 'You shall not hate your enemies but you shall love them?' Do we dare to say, 'It is better sometimes to be crucified than to fight?' Do we dare to trust in the power of love when it is face to face with the power of war, with the power of hate? Have we not failed, as a Christian church, again and again, to walk the way of the crucified? There are many thinking men in Europe today who are saying that one reason why this world-war has come was because the church has not been able to teach the nations loyalty to the principles that Christ himself taught; has not been able to make the Sermon on the Mount effective in life.

"Instead of making excuses and apologies for what we have failed to do, I think it behooves the church to clothe itself in sackcloth and ashes and consecrate itself anew to a new crusade, a crusade of righteousness and peace.

"There can never be any peace that will last, until into the political and international affairs of a nation there comes a sense of justice and of righteousness; until a square deal toward the weak ones of the world shall be the policy of the diplomat; until a square deal between the man that is down and the man that is up, shall be the policy in the national life of every nation.

The "enlightenment campaign" at the First Baptist church is progressing rapidly. Eight organizations, including Sunday school and other societies are interested in the campaign which is being held for the purpose of increasing the membership of each organization 50 per cent. Already three of the organizations have reached and passed the goal, they being the Ladies' Benevolent society with a gain of 150 per cent, the Junior Christian Endeavor society and the Pathfinders Girls.

Rev. Mr. Archibald, pastor of the church, took as his text for the sermon yesterday morning the Lord's prayer in the 17th chapter of John. This is the prayer given by Jesus to his disciples.

WILSON CONFIDENT OF HIS RE-ELECTION

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 23. —Optimism marks President Wilson's attitude toward his campaign for re-election as it reaches its last stages. Men who have discussed the situation with him said yesterday he is confident he will be re-elected.

The president has two more speeches here and three trips on his schedule before election day. He probably will receive the returns at Shadow Lawn.

He will leave Wednesday for Cincinnati, where he will speak Thursday. Then he will deliver an address here Saturday at a celebration of "Woodrow Wilson Day." Next week he will go to Buffalo and New York city, completing his speaking with an address here Nov. 4.

Alton B. Parker has accepted an invitation to take lunch with the president today, and James W. McLaughlin, ambassador to Germany, will lunch with Mr. Wilson Tuesday.

Vance McCormick, democratic national chairman, came here last night for a conference with the president on the general political situation.

President H. E. Hanson of the club will preside.

Party-Line Consideration

A party line is a single circuit from the premises of more than one person to the central office, technically connected so that more than one subscriber may obtain service over that circuit used in common.

A party line is not reserved for a single user any more than an entrance to an apartment house is like the entrance to a private residence.

A party line should be used on the share-and-share alike basis, just as the apartment house door is not used by one to the exclusion of any of the other tenants.

On a 4-party line, it is possible for all four stations to try to talk out on the same circuit at the same time. There is also the liability of all four stations being wanted at the same time to receive incoming calls on the single circuit.

Therefore, there are special considerations which a party line user should keep in mind:

1. Long conversations prevent the use of the line by other subscribers; therefore party line talks should be as brief as possible.

2. Whenever another party line subscriber requests the use of that line for an emergency, courtesy should prompt the first user temporarily to give up the use of the line.

3. Whenever a party line subscriber takes the receiver from the hook and finds the line in use, the receiver should be replaced at once in a careful manner; when a party line receiver is left off the hook, the transmission is considerably reduced.

4. At the end of a conversation the receiver should be replaced upon the hook immediately, otherwise the other subscriber cannot signal the central office.

AND the one who is calling a party line number should remember that when the operator reports "the line is busy," she means that any one of the stations is being used.

GEN. SWEETSER 3 YEAR OLD GIRL HURT; THROWN FROM HORSE

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 23. —Brigadier-General Sweetser was thrown from a fractious horse yesterday, and is now going around with a couple of ribs bandaged. The animal jumped just as the general had mounted. He is suffering little pain as a result of the accident, and is attending to his military duties as usual.

Troops Still Anxious
Once more are the Bay State infantrymen straining their eyes over the railroad tracks near Camp Cotton and pricking up their ears every time they hear the whistle of a locomotive. They have been told that not only are the Georgia troops on the way to relieve them but that the Georgians must be pretty near to El Paso. The Bay State men have heard similar stories before, but they are a hopeful lot and are hoping that their hopes will be realized this time.

About 2000 Georgians are said to be on the way here. This is stated officially, by the military movement of Massachusetts troops that sort of thing doesn't count as heavily here now as it once did.

General Sweetser said yesterday that he plans to put the first Georgia regiment which arrives in one-half of the Fifth's camp, and will assign the rest to the other half of the camp. The general has been directed by General Bell to assign the Georgians their camp sites, and inasmuch as the Georgian regiments are about half as large as the Massachusetts regiments, it will be an easy matter to provide for them.

It now appears virtually certain that the Second Battalion of the Bay State held artillery will leave for home Tuesday. Their transportation, it is understood, will be ready for them today, but because of certain paper work which must be finished before the battalion entrains, it will not leave until Tuesday.

Yesterday the cavalry finished its preliminary rifle firing.

A company of Gloucester acted as a fire brigade in the Eighth last night. One of the men in the tent of Corporal Tyler of C company built a fire in a basin to warm up the tent, the night was so cold. After the fire in this tent had gone to sleep the fire spread to clothing and blankets. C company was on guard. One of the Gloucester sentries discovered the blaze and fire call was sounded. Lieutenant William L. Webber, Jr., of the Gloucester company, who was on duty at the time, led the guard to the fire and routed out the occupants of the burning tent.

21 LOST IN GERMAN RAID ON BRITISH WRECK ON LAKE ERIE

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—News that the steamship James B. Colgate had foundered in Lake Erie Friday night and that the crew of 21 men had perished, was brought here yesterday by Captain Walter G. Grashaw, the sole survivor, who was rescued after being adrift on a raft for 34½ hours. The vessel went down off Long Point, Canada, opposite Erie. Captain Grashaw was landed at Conneaut, O., half dead from exposure to the fury of the storm.

19 Sucked Down
Nineteen of the crew were sucked down to death when the big steel boat foundered, and two others on the raft with the captain were washed off and drowned.

Captain Grashaw could be seen by his rescuers prostrate on the raft, his numb hands wrapped around the ropes, and his body lashed by the waves.

Captain Grashaw's story follows:
"We were passing Long Point about 6 or 7 o'clock Friday night when the ship sprang a leak forward. All hands were aft at the time, and immediately we could feel her tipping and settling at the head."

Comes Up Headed Haft
"Every man worked for his life then, but it was no use. By 10 o'clock the storm had increased so that the Colgate did not have a chance. The male was terrible, rain was driving and the waves pounded. We got the life raft ready just as the boat was so far down that her decks were awash."

"When she sank everybody jumped into the water. I went down and when I came up, by some chance my hand touched the early charges. I grabbed it and pulled myself on it just as Second Lieutenant Harry Osburn and the coal passer reached it. What happened to the others I don't know. I never saw them again. They must have been sucked right down with the ship."

Companions Washed Off
"Then our awful fight began—something I'll never forget. Twice the raft turned completely over and we were washed loose, but we managed to regain our holds. I must have been unconscious half the time, for now I can remember distinguishing from night and day, while the storm went on and our raft plunged with us, never once in sight of a ship that might rescue us until this morning."

"First the coal passer was washed away. Then hours later Osburn was lost. How I managed to keep on the raft I do not know. Each time I had to fight my way on top again."

THREE BODIES PICKED UP
TOLEDO, O., Oct. 23.—Three bodies of sailors wearing life belts stamped "Steamer Merida" were brought into the freight steamer W. B. Matthews, Capt. W. G. Cunningham from Toronto. This is the first definite proof of the loss during a gale last Friday of the steamer Merida with a crew of about 21 men. Capt. Cunningham reports that the bodies were picked up Sunday afternoon in the middle of Lake Erie.

TEACHERS' FEDERATION

Danger of Possible Infection From Unclean Books Discussed By Teachers at Annual Convention

The Massachusetts Teachers' Federation held its annual meeting at Riverbank Court, Cambridge, Saturday afternoon, Oct. 21, and heard favorable reports of committees on such important and timely questions as state and national prohibition, a code of professional ethics for teachers, a plan of a uniform accounting in public school systems of the state and help to federal and other agencies in popularizing the metric system. These recommendations now go to the directors of the federation for their consideration and action. There was some opposition to the movement to put the federation on the side of prohibition but it was carried by a vote of 32 to 8. The federation represents 60 local teachers' associations with about 3000 members.

The danger of possible infection from unclean books was considered by the committee on text books and a special committee was appointed to confer with the state board of education and the state board of health regarding the hygienic aspects of the question.

President Henry H. Harris of this city gave a review of the year's work and urged consideration of the mill tax project which the federation has already favored. He expressed his opinion that the agitation will go on until the changes will have to be taken by the legislature.

Ernest Mekechic of West Somerville, secretary of the federation, stated in his report that during the past year the Fall River Grade Teachers' association, Maynard Teachers' association and Swampscott Teachers' association have joined the federation. He urged support for the federation's publication, "The Common Ground," of which Ralph P. Ireland of Gloucester is editor. He told of an address by Miss Mary McKinnon of Brookline to the teachers of Springfield who appear to favor joining the federation. Mr. Ireland spoke briefly on the official organ of the federation, to which the discovery had previously referred.

The following officers were elected: President, Henry H. Harris, Lowell; vice-presidents, Walter I. Chapman, Boston, and Annie E. Whittier, Lynn; treasurer, Anna C. Burdick, Boston; directors, the foregoing and Margaret A. Nichols, Boston; Sara F. Derby, Eschwege; Fred A. Bishop, Chelsea; Belle P. Butcher, Lowell; Herbert L. Rand, Salem; Emily D. Story, No. Adams; George R. Worcester, Worcester; John W. Northcott, New Bedford.

with a most powerful line of trench fortifications. Moreover, every village was a fortress which had to be besieged and stormed. The British have driven back the Germans on a front of eleven miles, to a depth of four to eight miles. When spring comes peasants will plow and seed ground behind the lines which for two years had lain fallow under the storm of shells. In Freicourt and Mamouth villages taken on July 1, trees with their trunks torn and their foliage blasted by shells have bravely thrown out fresh shoots while fresh crops of grass are hiding the shell craters in neighboring fields and carpeting the seamed earth trodden by the British in their early charges. Former residents of captured villages are requesting that they be allowed to return to them and build new homes on the ruins of their old ones.

British Casualties Heavy

The offensive has consisted of intervals of preparation and siege work after each big general attack, to prepare what is called a "jumping off" place for another general attack. Through July, owing to the heavy cost of taking the first line trenches, the British casualties probably were heavier than the German. Through August, when over a large part of the front the Germans were out of their second as well as their first line systems of defenses and the battle became one of digging and fighting in the open for both sides, casualties were about even.

Heavy German Losses

As the British kept up the offensive their exposure necessarily was greater. Yet from all information the correspondent can gain, both from British officers of all grades who have been in the fighting and from German prisoners, the German losses were not less than 25 and possibly 50 per cent higher than the British during the month of September, when the British gained most ground.

This contradiction of the previously accepted idea of a higher ratio of casualties for the side on the offensive, which is usually considered as necessarily not less than two to one, is due, according to the British officers, to the superior power of British shell fire, the numbers of British aeroplanes, the increased skill of the British soldiers and the use of the tanks. The British staff did not possess much reliance upon these new contrivances which aroused such world wide interest but regarded them as an experiment which might fail altogether. They are only one of the inventions adding the offensive against the modern fortifications which will be used next spring when the British are fully prepared. Criticisms as to the value of the tanks are hard to make out, but taking the average opinion of experts at the front, these weird new motor cars have saved a loss of 20,000 men, or more than a full division in the reduction of strong points and machine gun positions.

Power of Big Guns

The offensive at every step proved that no army can have too many guns which will kill and demoralize an enemy with projectiles fired from a distance of anywhere from 2000 to 20,000 yards. The great value has also been proved of portable machine guns, manned by skillful and cunning soldiers. Men posted in shell craters with these weapons have a formidable power whether their side is acting on the defensive or offensive.

Not in ground gained or in prisoners or guns taken does opinion at the front lay most emphasis after nearly four months' ceaseless fighting, every day bringing its lesson. Officers are always using the word morale, which means the spirit and team play an army puts into its work. It is the thing which at the end of the tenth round of a 20-round fight when both pugilists are still standing, will tell the victor from the loser. The British, after nearly two years of stalling, have been fighting week after week on soil taken from their foe. Thus the British morale has become the morale of attack. This offensive has been the school of war with death as tutor. As one staff officer said: "If we had July 1 to do over again we should accomplish the same result with less loss."

Flight Like Grant's Army

By fighting the British new army has learned to fight as Grants' army learned to fight at Shiloh and McClellan's on the peninsula. The British staff and commanders, those few professionals who were trained to direct the small regular army, realized fully their immense responsibility in sending an army trained in theory against the experienced German organization. At that time one commander recalled to the correspondent a saying of von Moltke, that although the German as a soldier might not be better than his enemy, the German army would always win because of a superior staff system. "We have met the German staff," said the same man recently, "and I assure you none of us are suffering from stage fright these days. We thank the German staff for what they taught us in the days of our unpreparedness and of late they have been learning a few things from us."

CLUBS MAY TEST SOLICITOR'S OPINION

The licensed clubs in Lowell are preparing to test the opinion of the city solicitor relative to the sale of liquor by clubs. The clubs affected are the Nordic, Washington, Bunting, Elks, Cloyens-Americans, Club Lafayette and Central. These clubs have suspended the sale of liquor, but all of their members are not satisfied with the ruling. It is the disposition of the clubs to test the soundness of the solicitor's opinion.

It was announced today that the officials of the Bunting club would have a conference this evening with Attorney William D. Regan and will be guided by his advice in the mixup on club licenses. The Bunting is one of the few clubs paying taxes to the city and members have invested their savings in the club to some considerable extent. The club officers are live wires and they have decided to make the club a success. Speaking of present conditions one of them said: "We have always co-operated with the license commissioners in every way and our aim has been to run the house according to law."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"The Hawk." William Faversham's starring vehicle for over two solid years and direct from brilliant runs in Paris, New York, Chicago, Boston and other big cities is the offering of the Emerson Players at the Opera House today and all this week and this play should prove the banner attraction of the season. The popularity and renown of this play and its initial presentation by any stock company in the country has caused a great demand for seats and wise ones will make reservations early and thus avoid any chance of disappointment.

"The Hawk" is well known to the theatregoers of Lowell because of its wonderful run to over 1000 houses at the Majestic theatre in Boston last season when it smashed to smithereens all previous big records at this house. It is a grand play which tells a wonderful story and which shows how men, like hawks, prey on their guests and their hosts' guests, cheating them at cards and robbing them. It is the most wonderful drama offered on any stage in the past 25 years and compared to "Within the Law," "Under Cover," "Kick In" and other big successes it stands like a giant among a lot of pygmies.

Ivan Miller, the popular leading man of the Emerson Players, is seen in the Pacha's role and that he will lead the big hit of his career before the week is over is certain. Mr. Miller is capably fitted for the character and his ability—which he has already shown in previous attractions—insures the theatregoers of this city of a wonderful exhibition of acting.

Miss Harriet Duke, one of Broadway's favorites and a popular star, is making her first appearance with the Emerson Players this week, succeeding Miss Inez Ragan. Miss Duke is young, pretty and a perfect most gifted young artist on the American stage and she will prove one of the greatest favorites that the city has known.

All the favorites—James Hayden, Millard Vincent, Rose Morison, James T. Galloway, Gertrude Shirley, David Baker, Ernest East, Frank Wright and other members of the company will be seen at their best and a superb scenic production is given with all new and special effects.

Patrons should secure seats early. The attraction is positively limited to the one week. Reservations can be made by phoning 281 from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. and must be lifted before 1:30 p. m. of the week of the performances they are selected.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Today opens a new week, and incidentally a new week of photo-films at the Merrimack Square theatre. During the next six days, starting with today's continuous performances many of the most gifted young artists on the American stage and she will prove one of the greatest favorites that the city has known. The name and face of Fannie Ward, the talented actress who has so often charmed Merrimack Square theatre audiences will again be seen at this theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday. The five-act play in which she will appear to the entertainment of all is "Witchcraft" which is the picture favorite and a popular star. The story will be especially of interest to Lowellites because it deals with New England witchcraft and the persecution of the witchcraft. Miss Ward plays in a most captivating manner, which is characteristic of her role of Susan, a Hingham refugee who is accused of being a witch and is sentenced to be hanged. Those who have ever seen Miss Ward can feel assured that she makes a most bewitching witch. Also to be shown at this theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday, is one which is also bound to please. It is "The Dark Silence" with the attractive Clara Kimball Young in the principal part, that of a beautiful girl who goes to Paris to perfect her art. There she meets a series of thrilling adventures which result in her complete and ultimate happiness. The Pathe News will be of interest to everyone on these next three days and the comedy and other plays will also be found entertaining.

OWL THEATRE

"Life's Shadows," the first great Metro photo-drama, presenting the gifted author-actor, William Nigh, since his wonderful triumph in "The Owl Theatre" will lead the big Owl theatre bill for today and tomorrow. In this picture Mr. Nigh has as his co-star Irene Howley, the popular screen actress.

"Life's Shadows" is replete with human interest. The play represents the life of a small city, Purbury by name, chosen and discussed in the life of Purbury. The only man who seems to have clear vision, combined with sympathy and understanding for all, is a lawyer who is despised because he is a little too fond of strong drink. But even with this handicap he revolutionizes things in the town and in the end overcomes his own weakness. The story also deals with the attempts of an unknown girl to gain a foothold among the gossiping townpeople of Purbury. This girl declares herself in love with the worthless son of a wealthy family, but she finds her real happiness in the keeping of his brother, a kindly character whose chances of winning the coming mayoralty fight are excellent. Despite all this, tiring of the gossiping which he starts, he starts to leave the girl and his own sister and leaves the town to its own righteousness. "Life's Shadows" is a play of compelling interest. It is a story which will please all. Other excellent attractions will also be presented at the Owl today and tomorrow.

Lowell, in said county, came in contact with a signal switch that is located near to one of the rails of the track, which said car was running and was thereby thrown down upon the track and under one of the wheels of said freight car and thereby received injuries that caused his death.

"I find that the death of said Edward Rockwell was not caused by criminal negligence of the Boston & Maine railroad, of its agents, officers or servants."

MISSIONARY LIFE IN INDIA
A large and interested audience gathered last evening in Associate hall to hear a lecture on missionary life in India by the noted priest and missionary, Rev. T. Gavan Duffy, son of the famous Irish leader, poet and patriot, Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, of the 48 movement. The lecture was illustrated by slides which showed the surroundings in which Fr. Duffy labors, the difficulties he has surmounted and the wonders he has accomplished for the people of the jungle among whom he has lived for many years. Admission was free, but after the stirring story told by the missionary, hundreds of those in the audience gathered around Fr. Duffy and promised aid in the furtherance of his mission work in India.

WHY THEY SUPPORT WILSON

The democratic campaign is making steady progress towards victory all over the country. Never within the memory of living men has any president been attacked so unjustly as is President Wilson by republican leaders who for lack of a real issue assail the chief executive on his personal direction of the affairs of state. They realize that on such matters they can impose upon the credulity of the electorate more easily than upon any matter of economic reform upon which the people as a rule have fairly intelligent ideas.

But the injustice, scurrility and bitterness of the republican attacks upon President Wilson are very largely offset by the splendid endorsements he has received from many prominent republicans in different parts of the country. In this respect Wilson has an element of support such as was offered to no democratic candidates for the presidency in recent years. The eminent republicans who have come out in support of the president are men who put patriotism above party and who feel disgusted at the antics of Roosevelt, Hughes and others less prominent by trying to discredit the president at a time when, as a result of the momentous problems growing out of the war, he needs the united support of the entire country in order to safeguard the interests of the nation and avoid any unnecessary step that might embroil us in war with any European power.

At such a juncture the fire-eating speeches of Roosevelt, Root and Hughes are offset by the appeals to the heart of the nation by such republicans as Thomas A. Edison, the great inventor; former President Eliot of Harvard; Dr. Harry A. Garfield, son of former President Garfield; Roger W. Babson, the leading financial statistician of America; James Kennedy, former congressman in McKinley's old district; Roy Stannard Baker, famous author and former follower of Roosevelt; Frederick Fanning Ayer, of Lowell, a staunch republican who sees in the present crisis a reason for standing by an honest and patriotic president who is assailed by foes without and within, not the least of whom are the jingoes who clamor for war with Mexico or some other country.

"Convinced as I am," said Mr. Ayer, "that Mr. Wilson is one of the greatest presidents we have ever had, his hatred of war and love of country perching like jewels in his crown of office, I send herewith my check for $1000 to promote the campaign for his election."

In his statement in favor of President Wilson, Roger W. Babson said: "I am for Woodrow Wilson, because I believe that he has tried to apply the Golden Rule to solving great national and international problems. The federal banking law, the developing of the parcel post, the enactment of the Philippine law, the farm loan law, the shipping law, the child labor law and various other measures are distinctly humane measures and measures in the interest of the weak rather than the strong."

"In short it is because Mr. Wilson seems more interested than Mr. Hughes in the moral side of such questions as banking, shipping, railroading, tariff, labor and relations with other nations, that I intend to vote for him."

This is but one of many such statements given out by prominent republicans in support of President Wilson. They certainly outweigh all the fulminations of Roosevelt, Root, Penrose and Smoot in favor of Candidate Hughes.

THE FREIGHT JUMPERS

In the police court on Friday a number of boys were convicted of stealing rides on freight trains, or, as the offence is commonly known, "jumping freights." Of all the fool-hardy and dangerous practices to which boys resort, this is unquestionably the worst. Boys are led into it by the stories of others who claim to have visited distant cities by jumping freights. Some may have done so; but the majority of those who attempt it are either killed or arrested. Railroad statistics of fatal accidents show that a very large number of the victims are hobos and boys who were jumping freights. In many cases they fall off the cars through sheer exhaustion and are mangled under the wheels. In other instances, they are locked in freight cars and many of them have been found starved to death in cars shifted to sidings to remain until needed.

The pitiful thing about this freight jumping is that silly boys leave their homes without telling any of their friends where they are going and are never heard of again.

What in such cases happens to them? They are killed while jumping freights and nobody being able to identify them, they are buried as "unknown" at the cities or towns in which their bodies are found.

The boy who resorts to this dangerous means of getting away from home must have but a vague idea of the danger he incurs. It is to be hoped that the increased vigilance of the railroads and the police will prove successful in stopping a practice that brands every boy caught at it as a good-for-nothing, senseless renegade who has no regard for himself, his parents or anybody else.

In nine cases out of every ten, the freight jumper rides to conviction in court or to a death under the cars, which is still worse.

SITUATION IN GREECE

There is a very disturbed and unsettled state of affairs in Greece. A provisional government has been formed by the supporters of M. Venizelos and it has been recognized by the entente allies.

The king is nominally in power but has no control over the government. Certain pro-German organizations are making all the trouble they can; and this requires the presence of a force from the allies to preserve some semblance of order.

The allies tried to have Greece espouse their cause, but found that King Constantine was still opposed to them. They charge that a large detachment of well equipped Greek soldiers went over to the Bulgarians. In extends its greetings to the venerable veteran and his patriotic helpers.

"The flag day for the Armenian relief appealed to the sympathy of everybody as the proceeds tend to show. Of all the countries stricken by the ravages of war, perhaps none has suffered more than Armenia except Belgium and Poland."

The Chinese are registering in unusual numbers in Boston but they are not showing any political activity in this city although as quiet, unoffensive and generally lawabiding business people, they should become voters.

It is just as well for some of those who are dispensing scurrility and vituperation against President Wilson to remember that patriotic citizens seldom stand mutely by to see the head of the nation insulted.

The local clubs have seen a new light in regard to the sale of liquor. So have the hotels. It is to be hoped that the city will reap the benefit in more general sobriety.

The police will undoubtedly see that the business of clairvoyance is not made the cloak for fraud or any other offense.

SEEN AND HEARD

If the conceited man desires to remain conceited, he runs a great risk if he runs for office.

No man is good for much unless he has ideas, and no man is good for much if he has nothing but ideas.

Even if it isn't a fine day, by being pleasant to everybody you can do your part toward making it a pleasant one.

He Doesn't Think So

At an evening party in Lowell two men, strangers to each other, began chatting. Presently one indicated a lady across the room and remarked:

"What a beautiful woman that is over there."

"Glad you think so," replied the other, with a smile. "She is my wife."

"Then I congratulate you, old chap. It must be quite a pleasure to lose every argument to a woman like that."

Density Hurt Most

A minister in a small New England village, who was noted for his absentmindedness, was once observed to stop in the middle of his sermon and heard to mutter:

"I knew she would! I knew she would!"

After the service was over, someone asked him the reason.

"Dear me," said he, "did I? Well, you know, from the pulpit I can just see old Mrs. Rogers' garden, and this morning she was out pulling up a cabbage, and I thought to myself, 'Now if that cabbage comes up suddenly she'll go over,' and just then it came up and over she went."

Champion Grumbler

Mrs. Higgins was an incurable grumbler. She grumbled at everything and everyone. But at last the grumbler thought he had found something about which she could make no complaint; the old lady's crop of potatoes was certainly the finest for miles around.

"Ah, for once she must be well pleased," he said, with a beaming smile.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderrine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair starts coming out and you can't find any dandruff.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If feverish, bilious, constipated, give fruit laxative at once.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, flatulency, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste and sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy. Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look for the "California Syrup of Figs" and the "California Fig Syrup Company," Hard back with contempt any other fig syrup.

soil, as he met her in the village street. "Every day," saying how splendid your potatoes are this year."

The old lady glared at him as she answered: "They're not so poor. But there ain't no had ones for the pigs."

It Came Suddenly

He was a bookkeeper in a big manufacturing establishment. He lived in a hall room in a modest boarding house and ate his luncheons in a quick lunch restaurant.

"There's no chance for adventures here in a great city," he used to say as he sat on the front stoop evenings.

Then all in the same week a burglar took $15 from his trousers pocket, an ammonia tank blew up in his office building, he was caught in a subway wreck, he was arrested by mistake for a pickpocket and he was run down by an automobile on his way from home and he married the nurse who helped out his broken arm.—New York World.

Descendants of Anaxias

A Yankee riding on a railroad, was disposed to astonish the other passengers with tough stories. At last he mentioned that one of his neighbors owned an immense dairy and made a million pounds of butter and a million pounds of cheese yearly. The Yankee, perceiving that his veracity was in danger of being questioned, appealed to a friend.

"True, isn't it, Mr. —? I speak of Deacon Brown?"

"Yes," replied the friend. "That is I know Deacon Brown, though I don't know as I ever heard precisely how many pounds of butter and cheese he makes in a year, but I know he has 12 sawmills that all go by buttermilk."

Very Modest

Scrimble, the editor of the Mudville Scrapper, was a modest man. He believed in modesty—even in journalism. He thought it paid no better for a newspaper than for a man to be continually bragging.

A prospectus was once drawn up for him. There were several blatantly boastful paragraphs in it, and Scrimble ran his pencil through them all.

"If I let this go," he said, "it would be pretty nearly as bad as the epitaph that the young widow carved on her dead husband's tomb. The epitaph read:—"

"Sacred to the memory of John James Greer, aged 31, who departed this life bitterly regretting that he must leave forever the most beautiful and best of wives."

The Boss

The boss is a peculiar man. He thinks he knows his biz. And says when he's wrong, "How he can talk! Gee-whiz! He lets it go, straight from the bat—"

Yes, sir, his talk is strong, And somehow, when the next time That thing does not go wrong.

The boss, he sometimes has a grouch, And then we all look out. I tell you what, it pays you then To know what you're about!

But on the other hand, sometimes I don't mind a little of his fuss. And then he acts as if he'd like To give us all a raise.

I don't expect, of course, my life To be one round of joy; I haven't got up far, as yet, I'm just the office-boy.

But don't mind my work, — Let him be gay or cross, — Now I am just the office-boy, But some day I'll be boss!

—Somerville Journal.

Rough and Ragged Shave

"I'll stop shaving," declared dad, as he appeared at the breakfast table with sundry pieces of cornplaster decorating his face. "I cut myself more and more every day."

"Why don't you get a safety razor?" asked George, who had lately commenced to shave himself. "It's ever so comfy. I'll lend you mine to try and show how it works."

Father agreed to make the experiment. Next morning, however, when he reached the breakfast table his face was more torn and cut than ever.

"Hurry, your safety razor," he growled. "It hurts more than my old one did. Why, I had to pull like the dickens, and when at last I did manage to get the hair off I brought the skin off as well."

George was mystified. His safety was a razor to swear by and he determined to investigate. He entered the bathroom and shrieked with laughter. When the family had administered first aid he explained:

"No wonder you had such a bad time with the safety razor, dad! He forgot to put the blade in!" —Pittsburgh Dispatch.

RUSSIAN CONSUL REPLIES TO PROF. MUNSTERBERG

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Joseph A. Conry, the Russian consul in Boston, took issue with Professor Hugo Munsterberg of Harvard yesterday on account of the psychologist's speech of Friday night, and his recent writings and statements about the German cause.

The Russian consul particularly referred to the address to Harvard students Friday night in which the professor predicted an alliance of Germany, Austria, Russia and Japan. Mr. Conry asks the source of the "reliable information" and further asks with Professor W. E. Hocking, "Is he an agent of the German government?" to determine if his Friday night address is "official German doctrine."

The statement refers to Prof. Munsterberg's address as "this strange discourse on psychology and astrology."

"Apparently to a defender of Germany it doesn't appear to be at all difficult for a people to abuse itself," remarks Mr. Conry. "German Kultur, having demonstrated how easily this is done, would gladly encourage similar action by other states. This is indeed noble teaching, ideal doctrine, for a civilized man to lay before the young manhood of America."

In conclusion he writes: "A study of Russian history from the time of Peter the Great to the present moment will fail to disclose a single incident which would warrant the statement made by Prof. Munsterberg."

Mr. Conry's statement concludes: "Russia has taken her position for right in the greatest struggle known to civilization. During two years her soldiers have won the unequalled admiration of the world and her spirit of the world and particularly does she desire the good will of the United States, with whom she has enjoyed the warmest friendship since the beginning of this republic. Her people are united in the cause for which she is now fighting; those who would slander her and mislead her with the hope of injuring her have hitherto operated under cover of darkness or in disguise."

"Whatever may be the outcome of this war, and there can be only one, but under whatever terms peace may be declared Russia will stand a world power worthy to associate with every other honorable power, and particularly will Russia have demonstrated to the people of the United States that the two great countries of the world are intended by nature to co-operate in the maintenance of future peace, prosperity and happiness."

"A study of Russian history from the time of Peter the Great to the present moment will fail to disclose a single incident which would warrant the statement made by Prof. Munsterberg. His remark is not wholly harmful if it causes the American people to make an earnest inquiry into Russian history."

PLAN DRIVE ON BOSTON

Democrats Begin Series of Open-Air Rallies Tomorrow, Aimed to Reach 10,000 Voters Every Night

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—With the slogan "For Wilson and Peace as Against Hughes and Roosevelt," a series of open-air rallies in and about Boston is to be launched tomorrow night under the general direction of the democratic state committee, the Boston democratic city committee, the Harvard Wilson club and the Boston University Wilson club.

It is planned to place the democratic pitch before at least 10,000 voters each night in Greater Boston. The state committee speakers will be under the personal supervision of Gen. Charles H. Cole, the city committee speakers under the supervision of Senator Edward McLaughlin, the Harvard Wilson club speakers in charge of Prof. Chaggett and those of Boston University under Prof. Buckley.

Judge Riley and his rally committee and speakers' bureau will carry on similar rallies over the state under the personal leadership of himself and Gen. Cole, Joseph J. Bonahue, Congressman Tuckey and Postmaster Murray. Similar rallies will be held in such centers as New Bedford, Brockton, Taunton, Fall River, Haverhill, Lowell, Lawrence, Worcester and as far west as Springfield, Holyoke and Chicopee.

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS

Struggled with Sickness and Discouragement; How Relieved.

Dayville, Killington, Conn.—"I shall be glad to have every woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Although I am only 24 years old, I have suffered for the past eight years. I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage where I was playing with my husband."

I had bearing down pains, my health failed me, and I could not work on the stage, and wasn't able to tend my baby or even get around myself. I was always downhearted and discontented with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet little town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Dayville in November. At that time I was so sick I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed. One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks a time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my housework. I felt contented and happy, and now am the picture of health, and am tempted to return to the stage. We appreciate my health as the most precious thing on earth."—Mrs. H. L. KLENNETT, Box 85, Killington, Conn.

M'CARTY HAS CLAIM FOR ASSASSINATION OF PREMIER

BATTLING TITLE

Who is the National league batting champion in 1916? That question is more commanding than it sounds. Is it Chase the champion, or does the honor belong to Lew McCarty, the former Brooklyn catcher, who finished the season with the Giants?

The situation is so complex that John Heydler, the able secretary and statistician of the National league, is at a loss to make a decision. "Chase is the champion by the public's opinion, I suppose," said Heydler, "but McCarty's case deserves some consideration. The league has nothing to go by as to how many games a man must play to be in the running for the batting championship. There have been players before with better averages than the champion, but they never have taken part in as many games as McCarty."

The first three batters in the National league finished as follows:

	Games	AB.	H.	P.C.
Holke	34	110	39	.355
McCarty	80	216	74	.343
Chase	142	541	181	.335

McCarty has many friends, especially among the members of the Brooklyn and New York teams, who think he is entitled to the championship. He played in more than half of the scheduled games, and as he was at bat 216 times, his average of .343 cannot be overlooked. It is seldom that a catcher appears in more than eighty games, and if McCarty's claim for the championship is ignored it might put a damper on the batting ambitions of catchmen.

Clarke Credited in 1906

In 1906, Stone of St. Louis and Nig Clarke, the former Cleveland catcher, were tied for the American league lead, though Clarke only participated in 57 games. Some actually led Clarke by a fraction of a point, but Nig was generally given credit with a tie that year.

The 1909 Spalding's Record Book runs a picture of Dode Criss of the Browns as American league batting champion for 1908. Criss was a pitcher and pinch hitter that year, and had an average of .341 in 64 games, being at bat only 82 times. However, Ban Johnson officially designated Ty Cobb the batting champion that year, though there was quite a bit of talk about it. Cobb was second on the list, and as Ty had taken part in 150 games, Johnson's ruling unquestionably was correct.

McCarty, of course, would deserve the honor far more than a man like Criss or Clarke, since Criss was at bat only 82 times and McCarty 216 times. There never was a time when a man who actually led the player designated as champion participated in as many games as McCarty. Perhaps Christy McDonald, who played with Cincinnati and the Braves in 1913, took part in the most games and headed a champion without getting any consideration. McDonald hit .355 in 73 games, before his holding got so bad that Stalling him to the South-eastern League. Daubert was the champion that season with a rating of .350. "If we did call McCarty champion for this season, then why should we stop there?" commented Heydler. "We might call Holke the champion, as he is the actual leader of the league."

Chase May Get Laurels

When Heydler does make out the final averages he will probably decide to make Chase champion, but says it is a delicate decision to make. Suppose one man took part in 100 games and led a pitcher who had been in all his games. What would be the ruling then? continued John.

Heydler will ask the National league to take some action on the matter at its December meeting, and will suggest to the league that it adopt a fixed rule which will make it necessary for a player to take part in two-thirds of the scheduled games of his club before he can be eligible for the batting championship. Such a rule, according to Heydler, will allow something to work by, and prevent the doubt which exists this fall as to which player really is entitled to the championship—McCarty or Chase.

In connection with such a rule as Heydler wants adopted it also would be a good idea to make a catcher eligible for the batting crown if he took part in half the games. Such an arrangement should stimulate batting ambitions. It seems that if a catcher can hit .345 in 50 games and lead the field he is entitled to the championship.

Chase Does Not Pick Crown

Anyway, Hal Chase doesn't think very highly of his crown. He says, "I didn't bat any better this year than last. It was only the league I was in." Hal seems to think it is more of a reflection on the old National league than on his hitting prowess that he should be leading it. "The tipoff on the National league," said Hal last summer, "is the way I am slugging the ball."

However, Chase has come up for air in the 300 class at various times in his career, and twice hit almost as well in the American league as he did in the National league last season. He hit .322 in 1906 and then stayed out of the 300 class until 1914, when he hit .315. Chase's other .309 average was with the Reds in 1914, when he hit .334. During the 1915 season Chase hit only .352 with the Buffalo Bisons.

Despite the fact that Charley Comiskey has announced that Clarence Henry Rowland is going to get another chance to win the pennant in Chicago, a lot of Chicago critics are inclined to doubt it. However, Clarence Henry is one of the invited guests at Comiskey's hunting reserve at Camp Jerome, Wisconsin. It looks as though Comiskey will make good his threat to keep Rowland another year. Incidentally the move is not popular in the Windy City, where the fans blame Rowland for booting away the last two championships.

Editor of Hal Chase, if Rowland had had him last season it likely would have been the White Sox instead of the Red which would have handed Brooklyn its fall trimming. There was some talk that the White Sox would take Chase back shortly after peace was declared, but Comiskey could not get confused over the transaction by which he was to buy back his own player from Harry P. Sinclair. It also is hardly likely that Johnson excoed Comiskey very hard to take back Child Harold.

DILLON-LEVINSKY

Jack Dillon who meets Battling Levinsky tomorrow night is the one man in all the world whom experts regard as having a chance to dethrone Champion Jess Willard. Even though Dillon is over 50 pounds lighter than the champion, yet for more than a year he has been clamoring for a chance to meet Willard for a figure of the natural advantages that Jess possesses.

Levinsky also has ambitions to get in the same ring with Willard and while his chances of success are very limited, yet the Battling New York Hebrew would undoubtedly make a very good try against Willard. Levinsky has the courage of a lion and is about the busiest person that ever got into a fight ring.

The fans should witness a hard, fast, grinding battle. From the sound of the ring in the first session, the two fighters are evenly matched. Levinsky has been with Dillon many times though but two of them went to a decision and both times Dillon won. "Battling" is the one man of the hundred that Dillon has met that he is unable to beat decisively.

VIENNA, Oct. 21, via Berlin and Saville Wireless, Oct. 22.—The assassination of the Austrian premier, Count Karl Stueger, was purely political and was induced by his refusal to convene parliament, according to the admission of Dr. Friedrich Adler, his assailant, shortly after his arrest.

Dr. Adler is an eccentric and super-radical socialist, sometimes known as "The Liebknecht of Austria." He is editor of Der Kampf. At first he declined to reveal his motives, but after being locked up he broke down and declared the premier's political policies had led him to do the deed.

Dr. Adler's arrest was not accomplished without the wounding of two men, who leaped at him after he had fled on Count Stueger. He discharged the ten remaining chambers of his revolver at these men before Austrian and German officers, with drawn sabers, overpowered him.

Baron Aehrenthal Wounded

The wounded men, who were injured slightly, are Baron Aehrenthal, brother of the late foreign minister, and the head waiter of the Hotel Meliss and Bohdan, in which the shooting occurred.

Called Political Fanatic

BERLIN, Oct. 22, via London, Oct. 22.—All accounts in the morning papers agree in calling the assassination of Count Stueger of Austria the deed of an irresponsible political fanatic, if not a neurotic whose mind has given way under the strain of the war.

Dr. Friedrich Adler, the assassin, is described by acquaintances as a man of a naturally fanatical temperament and one in whose family insanity runs. These acquaintances say that Adler has given the impressions for months of one whose nerves were stretched to the breaking point and that his wild demeanor had caused much agitation in the Austrian socialist central committee of which he was secretary. Young Adler led a small but vehement opposition to the policy of the party under his father's leadership.

The Voerwaerts, which expresses the strongest disapproval of Dr. Adler's deed, declared that he was undoubtedly deranged when he committed the murder, as nobody in his senses could have expected favorable results from such an act.

Premier Stueger's last political act was to prohibit two big meetings called for today as demonstrations in favor of the convocation of parliament. He also designed on the part of the government to participate in a conference of parliamentary officials tomorrow to discuss the possibility of the resumption of sittings of the representatives. It is not thought that the premier's death will have any effect for or against convocation, as he only acted as representative of the system in opposition thereto. There is no disposition to charge Adler's act to the parties which demanded the reconvening of the Diet.

Count von Stueger's death evoked a general expression in the press of personal sympathy and horror at the deed. The Austrian premier started his political life as a member of the liberal group in the Diet, but he followed a similar path, the Chronicle says: "Among the Austrian masses the suffering brought on by the war has bred desperation and, however its outbreaks may be repressed while the war lasts, there must be the menace of revolution as soon as it is over, to which the Austrian governing class cannot be indifferent."

ASSASSIN STANDS ALONE
VIENNA, Oct. 22, via London, Oct. 22.—Government circles here regard the killing of Premier Stueger as an act of a political crank which can in no wise influence the political situation of the course of the war. This statement was made to the correspondent of The Associated Press in high responsible quarters.

"It is pointed out that the time which has elapsed since the murder has shown that Adler, the assassin, stands alone. His act is disavowed by the socialist party and is condemned by his father, Victor Adler, socialist member of the lower chamber of the reichsrath. Adler stated to the police that he shot Stueger because the premier opposed the convening of parliament. It is stated officially that Stueger had at no time done this, and that he could not do it because the convening of parliament was a matter in the hands of the political parties.

The Austro-Hungarian press brands Adler as a vile, irresponsible criminal, and without exception deprecates the fact that the act of a crazy man should disturb the peace of the people. The city is quiet. The public regards the murder as a purely private crime.

MAN PREFERS JAIL CELL TO HIS HOME
HAVENHILL, Oct. 23.—A home in a jail cell held more appeal than his own happy home for Edwin C. Keith of Havenhill Saturday. In consequence of this situation, Havenhill's blue-coated sleuths no longer worry about a half dozen or so mysterious burglaries in Havenhill emporiums.

Keith is under arrest, a confessed burglar, the police said. He told them, the latter averred, that he would rather live in jail than with his wife. All of which events commenced rather suddenly when Keith's domestic difficulties with Mrs. Keith, a verbal missiles and missiles not verbal were flying promiscuously about the Keith family domicile on Orchard street when Mrs. Keith called a policeman.

Keith didn't wait for the policeman to arrive. In fact he went to the station and called on the police.

"I'm a bad guy," was Keith's salutation when he called at the station. "I'd rather go to jail than live at home with my wife." And then, the police announced, Keith confessed why he should be allowed to go to jail.

He told Assistant Marshal Hiram Pearson and Captain Irving L. Hovey that he was a man they wanted. "I robbed the Charles H. Grover clothing store," he said. "I robbed George D. Nichols' confectionery store. I robbed the Central cafe and the Ansonia. I am on parole from the Concord reformatory and I don't want to go back to my wife." The police rasped and agreed that Keith didn't need to return to his spouse. He was married two years ago.

A. E. Lowell of 15 Grove St., Lowell, Relates Interesting Story.

Of late years when a medical discovery is made and public tests of it are demanded so that its merits can be established, the inventor is often to whom the invention is credited select personally to many people, and on those selected the remedy is tried. Plant Juice has been submitted to a series of more severe series of tests, in that none of the cases that it has relieved has been selected, and still it has not with signal success in nearly every instance.

In Lowell it is repeating the success that has attended it in other cities, and even my numerous testimonials are being received from local people, testifying to the way they were relieved by Plant Juice. Among others is the signed testimonial of Mr. A. E. Lowell, who lives at No. 15, Grove street, Lowell, Mass., and is one of the best known engineers on the Boston & Maine.

Mr. Lowell has been employed by this company for the past 30 years. Mr. Lowell is a Civil War veteran, having served in Company B, 30th Maine Infantry, and is prominent in G. A. R. circles. He stated:

"I have had indigestion and dyspepsia for two or three years, and was troubled with acid formation, and I had headaches, dizzy spells, and was constipated most of the time; my liver was torpid and sluggish, my kidneys badly affected, and I had terrible pains in my back. I never could sleep at night. I was so bad that I bought of Plant Juice and, after taking three bottles, I can eat and sleep well, have no more trouble with my liver or kidney and am glad to state publicly that I never felt so well. I know your Plant Juice has cured me and I recommend it to any one."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dow's, the drugist's in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

A Sensible Cigarette

More men are now smoking SENSIBLY—

MEN ARE willing to think a little more carefully today even about the cigarette they choose.

That is good sense. For if an otherwise good cigarette is unfortunate in its blend—if it disturbs after continued smoking—it is not worth while.

The one reason why Fatimas appeal strongly to so many thinking men is that they do not disturb. Fatimas are truly comfortable—comfortable to throat as well as tongue. And they always leave a man feeling fine and "fit" even after a long-smoking day.

LOWELL GIVES LIBERALLY TO ARMENIA

The sum of $2036.24 was raised yesterday and Saturday for the fund for the relief of the sufferers in Armenia. There was a liberal response in this city to the nation-wide appeal for help, and more than 100 persons sold tags on Saturday, and yesterday there were generous contributions from the churches.

The appeal, which was made by President Wilson, met with a ready response, and among those who sold tags on Saturday were many Americans who volunteered their services. The sellers of tags started out early in the morning and worked until late at night and when the contents of the 124 boxes were counted it was found that $325.17 had been contributed, and yesterday $641.07 was collected in the churches.

Miss Elizabeth Babigan was a very active worker on Saturday and she succeeded in turning in the largest amount of money, $41.66. After filling one box, she returned to headquarters and secured a second box and then got a third one which was practically filled when turned in late Saturday night.

At a majority of the churches yesterday sermons appealing to the parishioners to contribute for the relief of the sufferers in Armenia were given by the pastors and as the people filed out of the churches they found solicitors at the doors. The largest collection was taken at the First Congregational church, it being $160.

Rev. Allan C. Ferrin, pastor of the High Street Congregational church, was the chairman of the committee in charge of the collections, and Alex. B. Williams was secretary. The arrangements were made at the Boy Scout headquarters and the funds were turned over to Mr. James E. Gibson, of the Lowell Institution for Savings, who is the local treasurer of the fund.

Saves Boy from Worms
Mrs. Jennie Bowen, of Meredith, N.H., writes this kind of letter: "You have helped my little boy. He would have been in his grave before long. Some symptoms of worms are: Deformed stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face, leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short breath, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out from the tongue, and worms starting during sleep, slow fever."

If you have the least suspicion that your child is troubled with stomach worms or pinworms, put him on the road to good health by using Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. This remedy has been on the market for over 60 years. No better laxative made for young or old. At all dealers, 25c, 50c and $1.00. Advice free.

BOYS DISCHARGED FOR GERMANS CAPTURE 30,000 PRISONERS AND DISABILITY ARE BACK 21 VILLAGES TAKEN BY FROM BORDER CONSTANZA, BLACK SEA PORT BRITISH ALONG SOMME

George F. Tighe, of 16 Cheney place, George Frenette, 20 Grand street, and Timothy F. Lynch, of 123 Andrews street, and Fred Callahan of North Billerica, members of Company M of the 9th regiment, are back from the border. The three latter arrived home on the theatre train Saturday night, while Tighe reached this city at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning, he having stopped off at Rochester, N. Y., to visit relatives. All four were honorably discharged for disability, but the condition of none is serious. Mr. Tighe, who was employed as a streetcar driver in the city prior to his enlistment in the company, is glad to get home and says he will

CITY SOLICITOR WOULD FAVOR TEST CLUB CASE

Speaking this morning on the threatened action of the Lowell clubs which are said to contemplate a test case based on his recent ruling on the serving of liquors, City Solicitor Harold A. Varnum said: "There seems to be a great misconception of the opinion, and I think those who are discussing it could not do better than to read it carefully. A test case would serve to clear the air considerably and if such a case is brought it will determine the law." It is known that many members of the York, Washington, Bunting, Elks, Citizens-Americans, Club Lafayette and Central clubs do not favor the suspension of service which obtains in most of the clubs, and a test case would undoubtedly be welcomed by them. ## JUST DROP YOUR COIN IN THE BOX AND PASS ON

The prepayment system went into effect on the Highlands-High street line and Westford street line of the Bay State Street Railway Co. this morning and although many of the commuters forgetting the exact location of the coin boxes, it has been successful in the large cities and there is no reason why it should not prove a success here.

On the cars are signs which read "Prepayment Car." "Have Exact Fare Ready." A passenger on boarding a car is supposed to have a nickel ready to deposit in the box on the rear platform, but in case he or she does not have the right fare the conductor will make the change, but the passenger must deposit the fare in the receptacle. Passengers wishing to transfer either at the square or various points along the route must secure their transfer upon entering for the conductor does not leave the rear platform at any time. The system is also a good one for relieving congestion for passengers enter by the rear door and leave by the front door.

The tickets which are deposited in the cash box by passengers are automatically registered in the box, but at the present time as each fare is deposited the conductor pulls the cord and rings up the number of fares on the regular register. It is the same way with the transfers, other than that the conductor places the transfers in his pocket but rings them up on the register in the regular manner.

At the present time the motorman has to open the front door when a passenger leaves but if the new scheme is successful the doors will be operated by air pressure, similar to those on the big semi-conductor cars.

There was much discussion pro and con relative to the system today as naturally there would be. Many are opposed to it, claiming that there is considerable delay, especially when a number of persons enter a car at the square, but on the whole it has been found that all of the cars have been running on schedule time and if there were any delays at the square the time had been made up along the route.

One of the features of the new departure has been that the danger of accident is minimized. Very often on crowded cars when the conductor is in the forward end of the car collecting fares, passengers have wanted to alight or board or alight from the car and the conductor instead of walking back and forth would shout out "All right" and some person in the rear vestibule would say "yes." Several accidents have occurred in this way, possibly through the carelessness of a passenger who did not bother looking to see if the party had reached the street or was aboard. But with the conductor on the rear platform at all times there is little danger of any accident of this kind.

Jury Finds for Plaintiff in Case Against Hugh Ferguson of the Hotel Cecil—
Another Case Heard

The jury in the case of John J. McGuire of this city vs. Hugh Ferguson, proprietor of the Hotel Cecil, an action of contract, by which the plaintiff endeavored to recover the sum of $408.47 for work performed and materials furnished in connection with the erection of the Hotel Cecil, this morning rendered a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $373. The case was tried at the civil session of the superior court last Friday.

The next case to go to trial this morning was that of Walter L. Hale vs. William L. Hale, the Merrimack Chemical Co. and the New England Manufacturing Co., both concerns of Boston, an action of contract by which the plaintiff seeks to recover the sum of $863.07 on an ice contract. The plaintiff claims he entered into a contract with the two companies to supply them with 500 tons of ice. He claims the companies after receiving a certain amount of ice failed to pursue the provisions of their contracts with the result that a large quantity of ice which he had purchased from the Merrimack Chemical Co. for the purpose of reselling it to the above named companies in fulfillment of the contracts, became a total loss.

The case was brought to a close this afternoon and the jury returned a verdict of $550 for the plaintiff.

With fitting exercises the two monuments, one in St. Patrick's and the other in Westlawn cemeteries, which were erected to the memory of the deceased members of Lowell's 22d, 23d, 24th and 25th regiments, were unveiled yesterday afternoon in the presence of thousands of spectators. Band selections were given, orations were delivered by prominent speakers, while prayers were offered by a Catholic clergyman in St. Patrick's cemetery and by a Protestant clergyman in Westlawn cemetery. The two monuments, which were unveiled yesterday afternoon, were very handsome. The guests of the occasion included State President F. O. B. Thomas P. Mahoney. About 500 members of Lowell's 22d, 23d, 24th and 25th regiments gathered at their meeting place in the Harrington building, Central street, early yesterday afternoon and later they formed in line in Central street and headed by a platoon of police composed of members of the organization, and the Lowell Cadet band, J. J. Gibbons, leader, marched through Middle, Merrimack, Central and Gorkham streets to St. Patrick's cemetery. The members of the police platoon were as follows: Capt. Atkinson, Patrolmen Edward Connors, John Fanning, Francis H. Moore, Joseph Farley, James Connelley, G. W. Sheridan, Frank Carey and James E. Burke. In the cemetery the paraders gathered around the monument, which was

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE, Oct. 23, via London.—More than three and one-half months of battle on the Somme, with the heaviest concentration of artillery, infantry and every type of war material and the most skillful and desperate fighting the world has ever known, has resulted in marked development of British fighting efficiency and of means for reducing the losses of the attackers. In the way of concrete achievements, the British have taken 30,000 prisoners, or a little less than 1500 for each of the 21 villages captured, with an average population of about 300 souls. They have taken 125 guns, 100 trench mortars and trench guns and 423 machine guns. They have not lost a gun.

66 MEMBERS OF ARMED LINER ARTILLERY ARRIVES AT ARRESTED NEW YORK

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Sixty-six members of B battery, Illinois Field Artillery, who are waiting at Fort Sheridan to be mustered out of federal service and who, rebelling at alleged inadequate protection against the cold, visited their homes without leave over Sunday, were placed under arrest today.

As the 66 prisoners were marched under armed sentries to the guardhouse, the young men cheered and sang, waving their hats and cried "we won't freeze if you put us in the guardhouse." An order permitting the guardsmen to use the batons was received after the arrests had been made.

COTTON MANUFACTURE
EXCEEDED ALL RECORDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Cotton manufacturers exceeded all other records during the cotton year which ended July 31, and the unprecedented activity is continuing. A preliminary report by the census bureau today placed the total consumption of cotton in American mills at 7,275,369 bales. Of that quantity 6,397,615 bales were lint and 850,916 bales lintless. Use of lintless showed an enormous increase over the previous year due to their manufacture into explosives. The increase was 469,071 bales, or 113.9 per cent. Cotton used also increased 300,231 bales, or 14.3 per cent. The number of cotton spindles active during the year was 32,695,885, an increase of 2.6 per cent over 1915. Massachusetts retained its place as the first cotton manufacturing state, using 1,462,838 bales, compared with 1,282,237 bales in 1915. North Carolina was second, using 1,067,233 bales, compared with 910,184 bales.

"BUT I WANT ONE LIKE THAT IN THE WINDOW."
It is aggravating to see just the dress you're after adorning a dummy in a window display, and then have the clerk attempt to palm off a hundred others on you and finally say: "The one in the window, madam, is just a sample for display purposes." A mild word for this is misrepresentation. Why not place false statements in a newspaper or deliberately lie from behind the counter? It's all the same. We make our window displays show you truthfully a few of our special attractions.

While he speaks very interestingly of his experiences, he did not care about making any statement relative to the usage of the soldiers received at the hands of the commissioned officers or the food that was served. Many complaints have been received of the manner in which some of the officers have acted and the kind of food served, but he said he would prefer to have the story given out by the boys when they returned home.

One of the quartet, however, when seen by a representative of The Sun, stated that some of the officers were very efficient, that the food was poor and that when the company returned the citizens of Lowell would hear enough to convince them that there is "something rotten in Denmark."

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

CANADIAN TROOPS HAVE ARRIVED IN ENGLAND

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 22.—The Nova Scotia Highland brigade and several other Canadian military units, together with 5000 men, have arrived safely in England. It is officially announced.

The sailing of the transport from this port in the gray twilight of the late afternoon of Oct. 13, five days after the German submarine U-53 had sunk five vessels in the steamer track off Nantuxet Island was a military secret, and there was no public send off. Only a few lonely watchers on the etched heights saw the big liner as she put to sea. On board, beside the 55th, 155th, 193rd and 215th Nova Scotia battalions were the 165th Toronto Battalion, the 1st and 2nd corps and the Canadian Royal Flying more," he said, "and the swirling body advancing in cyclone fashion is a sight long to be remembered." He said it kind of struck terror into the boys at first, but they got used to it for they were as frequent as showers in old New England. He said that if the sand gets on one's lips it cracks them and to stand in the midst of such a storm one experiences the feeling of suffocation that might be experienced in a building full of smoke. To prepare for the sand storm the tents are closed as securely as possible, but even then the tents are frequently blown over and general disturbances created. Mr. Tighe says that sand storms are sometimes visible for an hour before they reach the spot from which they are observed.

The Mexican "Spick"

Mr. Tighe also spoke about the Mexican guards on the opposite side of the Rio Grande and furnished a running story about them. He said that the Mexican guard, or "spick" as he is called, has a weakness for uniforms and it doesn't make much difference what combination he plays as long as he gets the uniform. Sometimes it will be a big pair of riding boots, dirty overalls, old white coat and any kind of an old hat suffices to complete the costume of which the "spick" is more than proud. He is sometimes seen in the uniform of the United States soldier and no questions are necessary as to how he came by such a uniform. At Port Bliss, Mr. Tighe saw the survivors of the Carrizal fight, and told him of an old soldier thinking terrible the way they were used by the Mexicans. Their clothes were taken off their backs and they were sent back sans clothing of any description. They claimed, however, that the Mexicans are a bunch of cowards and that there is no such thing as a man to man fight. A dozen or more of them will surround one man and riddle him with bullets. They were all of the opinion that if the United States soldiers ever went in there on real business they could clean the Mexicans up in less than six months.

WATERWAYS COMMITTEE

Charges Lack of Team Play Between Police Department, Ambulance Corps and Physicians

The following is contained in a letter from the committee on waterways to the mayor:

"Your commission wishes to report on several matters which have been occupying its attention during the past month.

The city's part of the new fencing at the foot of Chestnut Street is completed. The Westminster Power company is about to finish the strip belonging to them, thus closing this dangerous spot, with a uniform metal fence. The fence along Wall Street has been rendered unclimbable by addition of barbed wire strands. The fence along Varian Avenue at the falls has been installed so that this place is now made safe. The commission hopes that the sidewalk will be widened here and that an ornamental fence will be constructed from this spot to the approach to the new bridge. The Lawrence Street bridge, over Halls Brook has been made perfectly safe by wire fencing on both sides. The fencing at the foot of Clark and Joiners courts is under construction and will be completed by next week.

The commission reports that there are spots in the iron fencing along the Andover Street bridge over the Concord river that should be repaired at once by the street department.

Several rescues have been made during the past few weeks, some of them by means of ropes and ladders recently installed, and others by individual rescuers. The House of Commons has extended the terms of the city of Lowell, 1, 1916, but no drawing has been reported in the city limits. This was an unfortunate case. These cases cannot be prevented from recurring, but the commission hopes to prevent accidental drownings to a large degree.

Up to the present time there has been lack of team play between the police department, the ambulance corps, the city physician and the district physicians, in the treatment of accident cases reported to police headquarters. This has been due, not to lack of willingness, but to lack of system in such matters. The commission hopes to rectify this within a short time.

The police life-saving boat has been fully equipped and is now ready for emergency calls. The truck to carry the boat will soon be placed at the police station.

FEATS OF MEMORY TRAINING

Tonight at the Y.M.C.A. hall there will be a demonstration of what may be accomplished through the training of the Berol System of Memory Training. Mr. C. Howard Ellwood of Boston, assisted by students of last season's classes, will be the instructor. Many interesting and astounding illustrations will be prearranged. These will show one how to utilize his or her brain capacity, instead of making use of only a small portion of the intellectual powers. Mental training is as essential for the mind as physical training is for the body. Few are gifted with naturally tentative memories; but they can be cultivated, and it will not be hard if attacked in a scientific way. No doubt it is a benefit to those in all walks of life. Sleepers are changed into enthusiasts after attending a demonstration. Therefore this demonstration tonight at the Y.M.C.A. hall is open free to the public. Both ladies and gentlemen being most heartily welcome. The time is set at 8 o'clock. It is quite likely that the hall will be filled to overflowing as it was last season.

2 KILLED AND 3 HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Oct. 22.—Edward C. Morse, former postmaster of Lyndon, Vt., and his wife, a prominent club woman, were instantly killed, and three young women injured, when their automobile rode over a 15-foot embankment and turned over, here last night.

The three young women injured are Miss Maude Weatherbee of Lyndon, a high school graduate, and Misses Alice Bancroft and Amelia Lee, teachers in Lyndon academy. Miss Weatherbee was taken to her home unconscious. Miss Bancroft is hysterical and the extent of her injuries are unknown. It is believed both are seriously hurt. Miss Lee is slightly cut and bruised. Miss Weatherbee conducts the Lyndon ice shop.

The party was returning from Miss Bancroft's home in Calais where they passed the day. The front lights on the Morse car were not bright. Morse turned out for a car coming from the opposite direction and the machine went over the bank, turning upside down and pinning all the occupants underneath.

Miss Lee cried for help and neighboring farmers went to their assistance. When the car was raised, Morse was dead. His wife breathed only a few minutes. Both had been crushed under the front seat.

JOHN J. NUGENT ASPHYXIATED AT GAS WORKS

John J. Nugent, an employee of the Lowell Gas Light Co., aged 61 years, and residing at 9 Coburn street, was overcome by gas while at his work at the works in School street late Saturday afternoon and died without gaining consciousness. Mr. Nugent went into the retreating room for the purpose of removing a plug from one of the pipes and while attempting to adjust it later was overcome. He was found in an unconscious condition, but all efforts to revive him were fruitless. Deceased leaves his wife, Mary; four sons, Henry J., George F., Herbert L., and Austin J.; one daughter, Mrs. Allan Thomas; two brothers, Thomas and Michael of Ireland, and a sister, Mrs. William J. Wilson of this city. Deceased was an old and valued employee of the Lowell Gas Light company and was a member of the Gas House Employees.

LADY LOOKABOUT

The Lowell Teachers' Organization is doing much to form classes in the university extension courses offered by the state. Many of the courses offered are college grade and are patterned directly on the courses of leading colleges. In many cases instructors are taken directly from these colleges. In the case of the trades and mechanics, instructors and advisors are men who have made successes of their particular lines of work. These courses are given wholly without charge, and only a nominal fee is charged for registration. For a long time a big demand for something of this nature has been felt in Lowell. Saturdays and evenings throughout the school year saw many men and women going to Boston to the various educational institutions for large expenses to themselves both for the courses and for fares. It will be a great disappointment to those who are trying to bring these advantages to Lowell people, if they do not respond and make the most of this wonderful opportunity. In another column attention is called to the meeting to be held at high school hall on Wednesday evening at which the plan of work will be fully outlined and an opportunity given to all who wish to register for the different courses. The aim of the state to place these opportunities within the reach of all should be appreciated by every man and woman in the city, and the success or failure of the movement depends wholly on the response of the public to it.

New Fur Coats
The fur coats shown this season suggest the Russian fur coat of skins of their voluptuous fullness. Billows and billows of the short haired fur form these garments, while about the bottom, the sleeves and the deep collar are lined with luxuriant long hair fur. The effect is suggestive of snow storms, sleigh-bells, and softness, and last but not least, high prices. These coats cannot be had in less expensive materials, and many will consider that an advantage. The muffs, however, go to the opposite extreme; they, indeed, are much larger than a tea caddy, they reduce what otherwise might be a staid woman with a fur coat. Combinations of fur are used in these muffs, and with a band of ermine about it, being especially favored. These muffs have been copied faithfully from that worn by Madame Lamour, the famous French list, in one of her pictures of herself and are the embodiment of all that is exquisite and dainty.

Unflinching Satisfaction
An amazing inconsistency of anti-suffragists is the satisfaction they claim to get from indirectly directing the votes of their meekfolk. They feel that they themselves are not capable of intelligently assuming the burden and responsibility of the ballot, and yet they are satisfied that their meek relatives have followed "pup" from them. Is it not true to the record some women seem to have made for all women? Reliable statistics point to the fact that there are more than 9,000,000 men and more than 5,000,000 women twenty years of age and over in the United States who have no votes. One third of the adult population of the country is living in hired rooms, outside the home relationship. Although it is often said that the family is the unit of representation, these homeless men are given the right to vote. Why not the home? Why not the women? Where are the fathers, husbands and brothers to represent these millions of women at the polls? There is a valuable suggestion hidden in this paragraph if the anti-suffragists are astute enough to see it. If they would organize a few—what shall I call them?—get together clubs for the homeless, the figures I have given would soon change.

The Canizing Season
At this season of the year, all home magazines and the women's pages in the newspapers are filled with recipes for cooking, preserving and canning the surplus fruits and vegetables which abound at this time. As one reads over these receipts, he is impressed with the fact that the fact that the cooks of the country are doing their best to create palatial feasts in the American people. The delightful natural flavor of apples, pears, peaches, grapes and the rest, is concealed and disguised by spices and vinegar, until one is forced to conclude that the fruit itself is used only to give look and lustre to the dish, and not for itself. This is all the more realized when one finds a conserve with grated fruit or carrot taking the place of a fruit. The whole is so spiced and pickled that one may well think he is eating peaches instead of grated carrot. This is not an applied to cooking. Instead it is an art of the kitchen. One can improve on the exquisite natural flavor of good fruit, and it would seem that the best chef would work to enhance the natural flavor, rather than to disguise it. In this land of plenty, the national palate should be trained to demand natural and not artificial flavors and often exciting disguises.

LADY LOOKABOUT.

BANK PRESIDENT RESCUES THREE IN HARBOR

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Max Mitchell, president of the Commonwealth Trust company, plunged into the waters of Boston harbor yesterday afternoon, and after he had rescued one drowning man, assisted another man and his wife into a motorboat.

Two men had been plunged into the water, two miles off shore, when a dory, from which they were fishing, overturned. The wife of one of them dived from a nearby boat and grasped her husband. She kept him afloat until Mitchell came to her rescue. The quartet were assisted into a motorboat by Nathan Gordon, the theatrical man, and Max Mitchell, a well known Boston real estate dealer.

At the Bayside landing, Nantasket, where the party was landed, all that was learned was that they were Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter of North Adams, and Mr. Hewat, also of North Adams.

The North Adams people who figured in the accident were believed, late last night, to be Dr. and Mrs. Robert G. Carpenter of North Adams and Harry Hewat, of North Adams, a subject of the "Hewat" in North Adams, that Hewat, who is a prominent manufacturer and a member of the firm of Strong, Hewat & Co., was in Boston as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Robert G. Carpenter. It was said in North Adams that they were at "some beach" in Boston.

The rescues were accomplished in waves a half foot high, kicked up by a stiff wind.

Mitchell and Gordon, in Schoolman's motorboat, had run about two miles off shore and anchored between Pumpkin Island and the Fruit Market wharf. Mitchell started a dory and had cast off to fish by himself.

The boat in which Carpenter and Hewat were fishing and the boat in which were Carpenter's wife and another woman were about 200 yards apart. Mitchell had moved to within about 500 yards of them when Carpenter started to pull in the anchor of his craft.

Mitchell was some distance away when Carpenter suddenly slipped and fell overboard. The dory overturned and both Carpenter and Hewat were floundering about in the water.

Hewat was unable to swim and sank immediately. Carpenter struggled in the water and his wife dived after him. Mitchell got Hewat into the former's dory and then turned his attention to Carpenter and his wife. The motorboat with Schoolman and Gordon was racing to the scene of the struggle, and other fishing parties in the vicinity hurried towards those in the water.

When all had been safely landed in the motorboat, the craft was raced at top speed for the landing at Bayside, Nantasket. In the confusion following the accident the North Adams party disappeared, being picked up, but their whereabouts had been learned.

Mitchell made light of the matter last night, and said that he had no idea of who the people were that he had rescued. He knew them only as the Carpenters and Hewats.

MRS. CARRANZA COMING TO THE UNITED STATES

WIFE OF GEN. CARRANZA, HER TWO DAUGHTERS AND MRS. OBREGON QUIT MEXICO

LAREDO, Tex., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Virginia Carranza, wife of General Carranza, in charge of the executive power of the de facto government of Mexico, accompanied by her two daughters and Mrs. Alvaro Obregon, wife of the Mexican minister of war, arrived in Nuevo Laredo yesterday from Mexico City on a special train. They could not discuss their trip nor its object.

Alonso R. Garret, American consul at Nuevo Laredo, has been instructed by the state department to show the party every courtesy in entering the United States. They will leave today for San Antonio. Mrs. Obregon is expected to go later to Los Angeles.

VISIONS OF PEACE

Church Must Take Her Share of Blame for the Present World Conflict

"Visions of Peace" was the subject of the sermon delivered by Rev. Herbert A. Barker, pastor of the First Congregational church, yesterday home of William Kelley, Bedford, Mrs. Bollington, the driver, was turning her machine around and backed into the car tracks directly in front of an electric car from Lowell.

The machine was turned completely over and Mrs. Bollington was pinned beneath the car. The girl was thrown out. The passengers on the electric lifted the automobile and removed Mrs. Bollington from her position. She was then rushed to the hospital.

RED LIPS AND HEALTH

The first place that anemia, or thin blood, shows is in the lips and gums and the membranes that line the eye lids. You may be naturally pale and still be healthy but when these membranes lose their bright red color your blood is deficient in quantity or color.

Thin blood is a danger. It invites disease. The organisms of the blood fight off disease germs. Thin blood means less power to do this. For instance, when you eat yourself it does not heal so quickly if your blood is thin and weak.

To build up the blood there is one remedy that has been a household word for a generation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, strengthen the nerves, increase the appetite, put color in the cheeks and lips and drive away that unnatural tired feeling. Plenty of sunlight, good wholesome food and fresh air will do the rest.

GEN. SWEETSER 3 YEAR OLD GIRL HURT, THROWN FROM HORSE DIES OF BRUTAL ASSAULT

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 22.—Brigadier-General Sweetser was thrown from a fractious horse yesterday, and is now going around with a couple of ribs bandaged. The animal jumped just as the general had mounted. He is suffering little pain as a result of the accident, and is attending to his military duties as usual.

Troops Still Anxious
Once more are the Bay State Infantrymen straining their eyes over the railroad tracks near Camp Cotton and pricking up their ears every time they hear the whistle of a locomotive. They have been told that not only are the Georgia troops on the way to relieve them but that the Georgians must be pretty near to El Paso. The Bay State men have heard similar stories before, but they are a hopeful lot and are hoping that their hopes will be realized this time.

About 2000 Georgians are said to be on the way here. This is stated officially, but the Georgia troops that sort of thing doesn't count as heavily here now as it once did.

General Sweetser said yesterday that he plans to put the first Georgia regiment which arrives in one-half of the Fifth's camp, and will assign the next regiment to the other half of the camp. The general has been directed by General Bell to assign the Georgians their camp sites, and as much as the Georgian regiments are in this story.

AT ONCE! STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapiesin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs feel fine.

Do some feeds you eat hit back—taste good, but work bad. (erment in the stomach causes a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Diapiesin, stop this down. Pape's Diapiesin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so surely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes. But what pleasure you must is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapiesin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, getting a large fifty-cent box of Pape's Diapiesin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

PINNED UNDER CAR
North Billerica Woman Seriously Injured in Bedford When Electric Car Struck Auto

Mrs. Mary U. Bollington of North Billerica is in a serious condition at the Deaconess hospital in Concord as a result of a car accident in Bedford last Sunday afternoon. Miss Josephine Robinson, also of Billerica, was riding with Mrs. Bollington at the time but escaped with minor bruises.

The accident occurred opposite the home of William Kelley, Bedford, Mrs. Bollington, the driver, was turning her machine around and backed into the car tracks directly in front of an electric car from Lowell.

The machine was turned completely over and Mrs. Bollington was pinned beneath the car. The girl was thrown out. The passengers on the electric lifted the automobile and removed Mrs. Bollington from her position. She was then rushed to the hospital.

The first place that anemia, or thin blood, shows is in the lips and gums and the membranes that line the eye lids. You may be naturally pale and still be healthy but when these membranes lose their bright red color your blood is deficient in quantity or color.

Thin blood is a danger. It invites disease. The organisms of the blood fight off disease germs. Thin blood means less power to do this. For instance, when you eat yourself it does not heal so quickly if your blood is thin and weak.

To build up the blood there is one remedy that has been a household word for a generation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, strengthen the nerves, increase the appetite, put color in the cheeks and lips and drive away that unnatural tired feeling. Plenty of sunlight, good wholesome food and fresh air will do the rest.

morning. He made application of the visible pictures of the time when peace would prevail to conditions of today. He spoke in part as follows:

"We cannot afford to let perish the vision of a day of peace. We lose our reason, if we do. What use to do any good at all? Why strive for the uplift of humanity, if it is all to be buried deep in hate and misery? Why become pessimists and have done with it, if there is nothing in these vicious wars of peace? What would happen to the Armenian people, for instance, in their present horrible suffering, if they could not look forward with some degree of hope to a brighter day, when their shackles will be broken and they may live in peace."

"The church must take her share of blame for the present world conflict. The church must bear her share of disgrace and sorrow for her miserable failure in the day of need."

"Do we dare to say, 'You shall not hate your enemies, you shall love them?' Do we dare to say, 'It is better sometimes to be crucified than to fight?' Do we dare to trust in the power of love when it is face to face with the power of war, with the power of hate? Have we not failed, as a Christian church, again and again, to walk the way of the crucifix? There are many thinking men in Europe today who are saying that one reason why this world-war has come was because the church has not been able to teach the nations loyalty to the principles that Christ himself taught; has not been able to make the sermon on the Mount effective in life."

"Instead of making excuses and apologies for what we have failed to do, I think it behooves the church to clothe itself in sackcloth and ashes and consecrate itself anew to a new crusade, a crusade of righteousness and peace!"

"There can never be any peace that will last, until into the political and international affairs of a nation there comes a sense of justice and of righteousness; until a square deal toward the weak ones of the world shall be the policy of the diplomat; until a square deal between the man that is down and the man that is up, shall be the policy in the national life of every nation."

First Baptist Church.
The "enlistment campaign" at the First Baptist church is progressing rapidly. Eight organizations, including Sunday school and other societies are interested in the campaign which is being held for the purpose of increasing the membership of each organization 50 per cent. Already three of the organizations have reached and passed the goal, they being the Ladies' Benevolent society with a gain of 150 per cent., the Junior Christian Endeavor society and the Pathfinder Girls.

Rev. Mr. Archibald, pastor of the church, took as his text for the sermon yesterday morning the Lord's prayer in the 17th chapter of John. This is the prayer given by Jesus to his disciples.

WILSON CONFIDENT OF HIS RE-ELECTION
LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 22.—Optimism marks President Wilson's attitude toward his campaign for re-election as it reaches its last stages. Men who have discussed the situation with him said yesterday he is confident he will be re-elected.

The president has two more speeches here and three trips on his schedule before election day. He probably will receive the returns at Shadow Lawn. He will leave Wednesday for Cincinnati, where he will speak Thursday. Then he will deliver an address here Saturday at a celebration of "Woodrow Wilson Day." Next week he will go to Buffalo and New York city, completing his speaking with an address here Nov. 1.

Alton B. Parker has accepted an invitation to take lunch with the president today, and James W. Gerard, ambassador to Germany, will lunch with Mr. Wilson Thursday.

James McCormick, democratic national chairman, came here last night for a conference with the president on the general political situation.

LODGE AND FITZGERALD
BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Gov. McCall, Lieut. Gov. Coolidge, Senator Lodge, Mayor Curley and ex-Mayor Fitzgerald are scheduled as the speakers at tonight's banquet of the Scandinavian American club of Massachusetts, at the Westminster hotel at 8.

President H. E. Hanson of this club will preside.

Party-Line Consideration

A party line is a single circuit from the premises of more than one person to the central office, technically connected so that more than one subscriber may obtain service over that circuit used in common.

A party line is not reserved for a single user any more than an entrance to an apartment house is like the entrance to a private residence.

A party line should be used on the share-and-share alike basis, just as the apartment house door is not used by one to the exclusion of any of the other tenants.

On a 4-party line, it is possible for all four stations to try to talk out on the same circuit at the same time. There is also the liability of all four stations being wanted at the same time to receive incoming calls on the single circuit.

Therefore, there are special considerations which a party line user should keep in mind:

1. Long conversations prevent the use of the line by other subscribers; therefore party line talks should be as brief as possible.

2. Whenever another party line subscriber requests the use of that line for an emergency, courtesy should prompt the first user temporarily to give up the use of the line.

3. Whenever a party line subscriber takes the receiver from the hook and finds the line in use, the receiver should be replaced at once in a careful manner; when a party line receiver is left off the hook, the transmission is considerably reduced.

4. At the end of a conversation the receiver should be replaced upon the hook immediately, otherwise the other subscriber cannot signal the central office.

AND the one who is calling a party line number should remember that when the operator reports "the line is busy," she means that any one of the stations is being used.

CHARGE HUGHES IN SECRET PLOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for president, denied last night the charge of the democratic national committee that he had entered into a secret agreement with the American Independence Conference, in which Jeremiah A. O'Leary is said to be the central figure.

His denial was in reply to a statement issued from democratic headquarters in this city containing what purported to be a report made by Mr. O'Leary, at a session of the conference in Chicago, of what occurred at a meeting between Mr. Hughes and a committee from the conference headed by O'Leary.

In this alleged report O'Leary was quoted as having said "Mr. Hughes promised that his future conduct in the speechmaking line should be entirely satisfactory to the interests of the committee."

O'Leary met Hughes

The democratic statement charged that O'Leary and his committee were delegated to meet Mr. Hughes and ascertain his attitude with reference to "Mr. Roosevelt's pro-British and anti-American utterances in particular and his (Mr. Hughes) policies in general."

The republican reply was issued at midnight, after a three-hour conference between National Chairman W. R. Wilcox and Mr. Hughes.

Mr. Wilcox called early in the evening, took dinner with the nominee and afterward went into conference with him over the nominee's recent trip.

While they were conferring the democratic statement was read to them over the telephone.

Statement by Hughes

A few minutes before midnight Chairman Wilcox issued this statement: "Chairman Wilcox said this evening that the matter referred to had been brought to the attention of Mr. Hughes over the telephone, and that Mr. Hughes replied:

"I saw the persons mentioned at their request about the middle of September, just as I have seen all persons and delegations so far as possible who have asked me to receive them."

"I have said nothing in private that I have not said in public. At the very beginning, in my speech of acceptance, I declared my position in favor of the absolute protection of American lives, American property and American commerce. This I reiterated to these persons and I have stated it to all others who have asked inquiries, as well as in my public speeches."

"To this maintenance of all American rights I adhere and shall continue to adhere. I have declared over and over again that I have made no private agreements and have engaged in no intrigues, and I repeat that statement."

Wilcox Makes Denial

"Chairman Wilcox further said that the national committee has had not and has not now any agreement or understanding with anybody on such a matter."

Apparently neither Mr. Hughes nor Mr. Wilcox knew that the statement was to be forthcoming until after dinner last night. Mr. Wilcox, on his arrival at Montclair, announced that he had called to confer with Mr. Hughes concerning the last trip and the itinerary for the next one.

Early in the evening Col. George Harvey called and paid his respects to Mr. Hughes. Col. Harvey was present, however, at the conference between Mr. Hughes and Mr. Wilcox.

Schickelikee One of Committee

The statement issued by the democratic committee was read over the telephone to Mr. Hughes and Mr. Wilcox by an employee of the republican national committee at New York, into whose hands a copy had fallen, about 9 o'clock last night.

It was then taken down by a stenographer, over the telephone, and transcribed. With the transcription before them, Messrs. Hughes and Wilcox prepared the statement which Mr. Wilcox issued.

The committee which saw Mr. Hughes included besides Mr. O'Leary, Will R. MacDonald of New York, Carl E. Schmidt of Detroit, chairman of the national committee of the American Independence Conference, and Frank Seiberlich of Boston. It was appointed at a meeting in Detroit on Sept. 7.

The alleged disclosures, for which the democratic national committee announces full responsibility, purport to have been taken from "the official minutes and authenticated stenographic transcripts of certain proceedings of the American Independence Conference—the high-sounding title of the secret, racial organization under which Jeremiah A. O'Leary and his associates have been making their furive and nation-wide campaign in the interests of Charles Evans Hughes."

That Telegram to Roosevelt

At a conference held Sept. 30, last it is asserted, O'Leary made his report, which in substance was that Mr. Hughes had assured the "special committee" (O'Leary and his associates) that he had sent a congratulatory telegram to Col. Roosevelt on the occasion of the colonel's Lewiston, Me. speech, before he (Mr. Hughes) had actually read the address. According to O'Leary, the democratic statement said, Mr. Hughes "had simply glanced over the newspaper headlines and comments and ridiculed Col. Roosevelt upon what apparently was a great republican utterance."

A statement read to Mr. Hughes by the "special committee" according to the democratic national committee said in part:

"We, representing a large percentage of the voters of the United States who believe in the principles of American independence and sovereignty, in accordance assembled at Detroit, Mich., Sept. 7, 1916, have been attracted by the telegram of congratulation which was sent by Hon. Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for president of the United States to Theodore Roosevelt, upon the deliverance by him of a public speech at the city of Lewiston, Me., which carried with it by expression and implication, an endorsement by Mr. Hughes of Roosevelt's pro-British and anti-American public utterances, which position has heretofore been condemned by us in conference and convention, as inconsistent with American ideals and American history."

Taft Elector Is Out For Wilson's Election

A. B. MATHESON OF WISCONSIN GIVES PLAIN REASONS WHY WILSON SHOULD BE ELECTED

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A. B. Matheson, conservative republican, Taft elector in 1912 and law partner of Senator John M. Whitehead, late candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator in Wisconsin, has announced that, from motives of patriotism, he will support President Wilson for re-election, while at the same time advising the republican state ticket in Wisconsin.

"President Wilson," said Mr. Matheson, "has been roundly condemned for allowing the Adamson bill to become a law. He did about the only thing he could do to prevent a great calamity."

"As to his Mexican policy I think he has done just as well as any man could with a very bad situation. He has managed to avoid war with Mexico, with its sacrifice of American lives and expenditures. I am in hearty accord with him in not recognizing a man like Huerta."

"There are three grounds for my support of Mr. Wilson. One is what seems to be a real interest in the social welfare of men and women; his humanitarian impulses and purposes. He is trying to do something for the man who is struggling—whether the man is in America or Mexico."

"In the second place, I am with Wilson because he takes a very definite stand on the German-American question, something called the 'hyphenate' question. Those men born in Germany or of German descent who have tried to destroy our property, intimidate our congressmen, and interfere with the operations of our government, all in the interest of a foreign government and foreign ruler, ought to be rebuked at the polls. Apparently these men are trying to unite their forces in the interest of Hughes. Since they are, it behooves others at this critical time to come to the support of Wilson."

"I think Wilson has handled foreign affairs with large vision and looking to the future, as well as to the present. I commend Wilson for acting with fine poise and balance in very trying times."

"I put my Americanism above my partisanship, and in these critical times I deem it my patriotic duty to stand by President Wilson."

LOWELL AUTO STRUCK CAR IN LAWRENCE

A collision between an electric car on the Bay State line and an automobile, owned and operated by Samuel Ripkind of 121 Harvard street, this city, occurred at the corner of Lawrence and Elm streets, Lawrence, Saturday. The automobile was badly damaged and some windows in the car were broken but no one was injured.

The car was going in a northerly direction on Lawrence street and the automobile in an easterly direction on Elm street when the collision happened. It is claimed that the driver of the auto ran directly in front of the car and before the motorman had a chance to bring it to a stop, the collision resulted.

The headlight on the auto was demolished and the front of it was badly damaged. Some of the windows in the car were broken but there were only a few passengers on it and none were injured by the flying glass. The driver of the machine also escaped injury.

Patrolman Daniel F. Dwyer investigated the accident and found that the driver of the machine didn't have a license but had an application card, which had been furnished him by the highway commission. The card was void, the patrolman said, and the man had no authority to operate a machine. He wasn't arrested, however, but was advised to get in touch with the highway commission at once and get his license.

B. F. KETTER THEATRE

Dorothy Regal, the girl whose characterizations furnish one of the joys of current vaudeville, will be at the B. F. Ketter theatre, this week, in a brand new comedy called "The Girl at the Circus." Dorothy Regal will be recalled for her wonderfully vivid work as the telephone girl in "A Telephone Tangle," of two seasons back. In her new part, that of the girl in the circus, she will have all of her customers' likes and dislikes, and who separates them legitimately from their small change, she is literally a comedienne. Her term applies only to a few persons today. Miss Regal is one of them. An excellent company assists her. Whitefield, Ireland & Co., in the "Belle of Bingley," present a comedy net. Middleton and Spellman, in "An Ocean Woe," present a sequel to "A Texas Woe," which was given here last year. It is a drama of love and comedy, and romance, intermingling in it. Not comical of the outmost flavor will be the offering of Val and Eric Stanton, who are sometimes styled the "Daily Dicks of vaudeville," who have the faculty of adjusting their work to the audience before them. Equilibrium has some of its greatest exponents in the Equili Brothers, who have assembled a cast of stars and stars who all hope to follow. Bob Fenny, musician and funny man, scores equally well with either talent, and the Scerlings are champion funny rolling comedians. Pat's News, the first of the great news pictures, will be shown, and this theatre will present first run pictures, to be changed on a regular basis for all performances. Telephone 25.

IN POLICE COURT

Continued

Demcke, charged with stealing two silk wists, and Charlotte Verhouse, charged with taking two pairs of shoes, both represented by Attorney George F. Toye, who informed the court that they were in poor circumstances, a fact, he said, responsible for the thefts. Each was fined $10. The goods were all recovered in bags which the women carried.

Mary Kreamowski pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging her with stealing three patterns from the Pollard store and her case was continued until tomorrow. She was represented by George H. Allard.

Mrs. Maria Rayno had a novel way of stealing. She was found guilty of larceny of a pair of shoes. Mrs. Rayno took two of her five children to the store and fitted one of them to a pair of shoes which she took from the counter. The shoes fitted perfectly and Mrs. Rayno put the old shoes in a bag and carried them to the stairs when she was approached by Mr. Chretien. She had but one dollar in her possession and the shoes sold for $1.25. When questioned, she answered that a clerk told her the shoes were valued at one dollar and she intended to go to the store and pay for them. She could not identify the clerk, whom she asked about the shoes. On account of the woman's large family the case was placed on file.

Flourished a Dagger

John Mohamed entered a lunch cart at the corner of Central and Jackson streets about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning and during an argument drew a dagger and threatened to "clean" the place out. A call for help was sent to the police station with the result that John was taken to the court and charged with carrying a dagger. He admitted that he was drunk and said that the happenings of Saturday night and Sunday morning were not clear. He said that he found the knife, which had a blade several inches long, on the street. He was fined $50.

A Talkative David

David H. Stevenson, a very talkative chap, was arrested by Constable Hooper in Tewksbury Saturday night, charged with drunkenness. Mr. Stevenson was called to the house by his wife, who claimed that her husband assaulted her because she would not return some money which he gave her. Stevenson started right off to relieve Judge Enright of the duty of disposing of the case by saying that it was only a family brawl and the best thing to do would be to "bury the hatchet." Stevenson works in Manolia and last Saturday afternoon went to Boston to do some shopping. He started home with a big load of household articles and a bottle of whiskey which he carried and presented him with a nip at the station, another nip on the train and a little nip on his way home, he said, "but that wasn't what made me drunk." I was all tired out from carrying the goods over the 24 minutes' walk between my house and the station."

Stevenson said that he gave his wife a nip in a bank and she didn't deign to let it go. The argument started. He promised to do better hereafter and was given a suspended sentence of four months in the house of correction. Before departing he shook hands with Clerk Savage and offered his hand to His Honor. He is a check hands with Probation Officer Shattary.

Small Some Scrapper

Fred Smoot pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness and assault and battery on James McLean. The alleged assault occurred near the corner of Middlesex and Elliott streets Saturday

AIR RAID ON FRENCH ENGLAND; TWO INJURED

LONDON, Oct. 23, 1:05 p. m.—A hostile aeroplane appeared today over Margate on the southeastern coast of England and dropped three bombs. Two persons were injured.

The following official account of the attack was given out here today: "A hostile aeroplane was reported over Margate at 1:05 o'clock this morning. Three bombs were dropped in the Cliftonville district of the town. Slight damage was caused to a hotel, and one man and one woman were slightly injured.

"British aeroplanes went up in pursuit of the raider who made off in a southeasterly direction."

SCHOOLMASTER GIVEN DAY TO LEAVE CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Confronted by evidence that he had written more than 100 letters attacking the reputation of one of his women teachers, John Henry Heil, principal of the Morgan Park high school, after an all-night grilling in the office of the board of education, confessed yesterday that he had attempted to wreck the teacher's home to win her for his sweetheart.

Heil's resignation was accepted and on promise to leave Chicago within 12 hours it was agreed that he should not be prosecuted.

Heil has a wife and two children and the woman of whom he wrote, Mrs. Marie Moore, is married to Oliver C. Moore, a dental student at Northwestern university. She was teaching to pay his tuition.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Stockholders of Stony Brook Railroad Held Their Annual Meeting Today

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Stony Brook Railroad, was held this morning at the office of the treasurer, Lowell Gas Light Co. building, Shattuck street, and the following officers were elected:

Arthur G. Pollard, president; Frank E. Dunbar, treasurer; Harry G. Pollard, clerk; Alexander G. Cummock, George S. Motley, Edward N. Burke, Arthur G. Pollard, Frank E. Dunbar, Harry G. Pollard, Frederick A. Flather, directors.

afternoon. McLean claims that Smoot stopped him on the street and that he and McLean drank together first. Patrolman Shapiro testified that Smoot put up a fine battle before submitting to arrest. He worked in the office down the off his badge and ran away but was overtaken near the postoffice. The case was continued until tomorrow so that another witness could be heard.

A Seasonable Name

Andrew Fall was sentenced to five months in the house of correction after being found guilty of assault and battery on his wife, Helen. The couple live in Dracut and Fall is said to have struck his wife because she refused to walk three miles to her supper. Mrs. Fall works in a store in this town and her husband has not worked for some time. She showed a black eye which she said was the result of her husband's beating. She said she liked him just the same and was reluctant about agreeing to have him sent to jail but Judge Earle had had dealings with the defendant before and imposed the direct sentence.

Was Fine 250

Samuel Dechamplain and Mary Gellinas were found guilty of a statutory offence. The former was fined $50 and Mary was given a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction.

William Ronovitch pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness. He was arrested in a crowd at Tower's corner Saturday night after a woman had complained to Patrolman Kelley that he tried to snatch her bag.

Three months' sentences for drunkenness were imposed on Timothy Donohoe, Edward Roy, Wilfred Duane and Jennie Courtmache. A half dozen were given a chance to reform and 12 first offenders were released.

John Somewick was found guilty of assault and battery on Mrs. Zolja Radziewicz and the case was placed on file on payment of costs. The alleged assault occurred at a wedding in a hall on Chapel street on Oct. 16. Mrs. Radziewicz claimed that Somewick knocked her down and kicked her. D. J. Murphy appeared for the government and D. J. Denahue for the defence.

NEW BOWLING ALLEYS

Seven Up-to-the-Minute Alleys in the Located in the Basement of the Associate Building

Bowling is fast becoming one of the most popular winter sports and already there are numerous alleys in this city. Seven new alleys are to be placed in the basement of the Associate building in Merrimack street by Thomas P. Fitzgerald, the well known elgar man, and that the venture will be a success goes without saying for anything that "Tom" tackles always turns out O. K.

The alleys are of the most improved type and are being built by J. E. Cane & Co. and it is expected that the majority of them will be ready to be played upon by the first of the month, the others to be completed by the middle of November.

The alleys will be known as the Merrimack Alleys and will be in charge of Richard J. O'Brien, a well known and popular member of the Knights of Columbus and the Broadway Social club.

The Broadway Social club has engaged the alleys for the tournaments which they will participate in this fall and winter. Four of the alleys will be reserved for private use by persons engaging them ahead of time.

WH THEY SUPPORT WILSON

The democratic campaign is making steady progress towards victory all over the country. Never within the memory of living men has any president been attacked so unjustly as is President Wilson by republican leaders who for lack of a real issue assail the chief executive on his personal direction of the affairs of state. They realize that on such matters they can impose upon the credulity of the electorate more easily than upon any matter of economic reform upon which the people as a rule have fairly intelligent ideas.

But the injustice, scurrility and bitterness of the republican attacks upon President Wilson are very largely offset by the splendid endorsements he has received from many prominent republicans in different parts of the country. In this respect Wilson has an element of support such as was offered to no democratic candidates for the presidency in recent years. The eminent republicans who have come out in support of the president are men who put patriotism above party and who feel disgusted at the antics of Roosevelt, Hughes and others less prominent by trying to discredit the president at a time when, as a result of the momentous problems growing out of the war, he needs the united support of the entire country in order to safeguard the interests of the nation and avoid any unnecessary step that might embroil us in war with any European power.

At such a juncture the fire-eating speeches of Roosevelt, Root and Hughes are offset by the appeals to the heart of the nation by such republicans as Thomas A. Edison, the great inventor; former President Eliot of Harvard; Dr. Harry A. Garfield, son of former President Garfield; Roger W. Babson, the leading financial statistician of America; James Kennedy, former congressman in McKinley's old district; Roy Stannard Baker, famous author and former follower of Roosevelt; Frederick Paulding Ayer, of Lowell, a staunch republican who sees in the present crisis a reason for standing by an honest and patriotic president who is assailed by foes without and within, not the least of whom are the jingoes who clamor for war with Mexico or some other country.

"Convinced as I am," said Mr. Ayer, "that Mr. Wilson is one of the greatest presidents we have ever had, his hatred of war and love of country perching like jewels in his crown of office, I send herewith my check for $1000 to promote the campaign for his election."

In his statement in favor of President Wilson, Roger W. Babson said: "I am for Woodrow Wilson, because I believe that he has tried to apply the Golden Rule to solving great national and international problems. The federal banking law, the developing of the parcel post, the enactment of the Philippine law, the farm loan law, the shipping law, the child labor law and various other measures are distinctly humane measures and measures in the interest of the weak rather than the strong."

"In short it is because Mr. Wilson seems more interested than Mr. Hughes in the moral side of such questions as banking, shipping, railroading, tariff, labor and relations with other nations, that I intend to vote for him."

This is but one of many such statements given out by prominent republicans in support of President Wilson. They certainly outweigh all the fulminations of Roosevelt, Root, Penrose and Smoot in favor of Candidate Hughes.

THE FREIGHT JUMPERS

In the police court on Friday a number of boys were convicted of stealing rides on freight trains, or, as the offence is commonly known, "jumping freights." Of all the foolhardy and dangerous practices to which boys resort, this is unquestionably the worst. Boys are led into it by the stories of others who claim to have visited distant cities by jumping freights. Some may have done so; but the majority of those who attempt it are either killed or arrested. Railroad statistics of fatal accidents show that a very large number of the victims are hobos and boys who were jumping freights. In many cases they fall off the cars through sheer exhaustion and are mangled under the wheels. In other instances, they are locked in freight cars and many of them have been found starved to death in cars shifted to sidings to remain until needed.

The pitiful thing about this freight jumping is that silly boys leave their homes without telling any of their friends where they are going and are never heard of again.

What in such cases happens to them? They are killed while jumping freights and nobody being able to identify them, they are buried as "unknown" at the cities or towns in which their bodies are found.

The boy who resorts to this dangerous means of getting away from home must have but a vague idea of the danger he incurs. It is to be hoped that the increased vigilance of the railroads and the police will prove successful in stopping a practice that brands every boy caught at it as a good-for-nothing, senseless rascal who has no regard for himself, his parents or anybody else.

In nine cases out of every ten, the freight jumper rides to conviction in court or to a death under the cars, which is still worse.

SITUATION IN GREECE

There is a very disturbed and unsettled state of affairs in Greece. A provisional government has been formed by the supporters of M. Venizelos and it has been recognized by the entente allies.

The king is nominally in power but has no control over the government. Certain pro-German organizations are making all the trouble they can; and this requires the presence of a force from the allies to preserve some semblance of order.

The allies tried to have Greece espouse their cause, but found that King Constantine was still opposed to them. They charge that a large detachment of well equipped Greek soldiers went over to the Bulgarians. In

The tag day for the Armenian relief appealed to the sympathy of everybody as the proceeds tend to show. Of all the countries stricken by the ravages of war, perhaps none has suffered more than Armenia except Belgium and Poland.

The Chinese are registering in unusual numbers in Boston but they are not showing any political activity in this city although as quiet, unassuming and generally law-abiding business people, they should become voters.

It is just as well for some of those who are dispensing scurrility and vituperation against President Wilson to remember that patriotic citizens seldom stand mutely by to see the head of the nation insulted.

The local clubs have seen a new light in regard to the sale of liquor. So have the hotels. It is to be hoped that the city will reap the benefit in more general sobriety.

The police will undoubtedly see that the business of clairvoyant is not made the cloak for fraud or any other offense.

SEEN AND HEARD

If the convicted man desires to remain concealed, he runs a great risk if he runs for office.

No man is good for much unless he has ideals, and no man is good for much if he has nothing but ideals.

Even if it isn't a fine day, by being pleasant to everybody you can do your part toward making it a pleasant one.

He Didn't Talk So

At an evening party in Lowell two men, strangers to each other, began chatting. Presently one indicated a lady across the room and remarked: "What a beautiful woman that is over there."

"Glad you think so," replied the other, with a smile. "She is my wife."

"Then I congratulate you, old chap. It must be quite a pleasure to lose every argument to a woman like that."

Dignity Hurt Most

A minister in a small New England village was noted for his absentmindedness, was once observed to stop in the middle of his sermon and heard to mutter:

"I knew she would! I knew she would!"

After the service was over, someone asked him the reason.

"Dear me," said he, "did I? Well, you know, from the pulpit I can just see old Mrs. Rogers' garden, and this morning she out pulling up a cabbage, and I thought to myself, 'Now if that cabbage comes up suddenly she'll go over, and just then it came up and over she went!'"

Champion Grumbler

Mrs. Higgins was an inveterate grumbler. She grumbled at everything and everyone. But at last the minister thought he had found something about which she could make no complaint: the old lady's crop of potatoes was certainly the finest for miles around.

"Ah, for once she must be well pleased," he said, with a beaming smile.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then fall out. It comes out fast. It is a falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderrin at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If feverish, bilious, constipated, give fruit laxative at once.

Don't scold your fractious, peevish child. Scold if he is coated; this is a sure sign his little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste. When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste and grime will be expelled. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but not the reverse. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company," and has their mark on the wrapper.

smile, as he met her in the village street. "Everyone's saying 'how splendid your potatoes are this year!'"

The old lady glared at him as she answered: "They're not so poor. But 'there ain't no bad ones for the pigs!'"

It Came Suddenly

He was a bookkeeper in a big manufacturing establishment.

He lived in a hall room in a modest boarding house and ate his luncheon in a quick lunch restaurant.

"There's no chance for adventures here in a great city," he used to say as he sat on the front stoop evenings.

Then all in the same week a burglar took $16 from his trousers pocket, an ammonia tank blew up in his office building, he was caught in a subway wreck, he was arrested by mistake for a pickpocket and he was run down by an automobile on his way from home and he married the nurse who helped set his broken arm.—New York World.

Descendants of Annulus

A Yankee, riding on a railroad, was disposed to astonish the other passengers with tough stories. At last he mentioned that one of his neighbors owned an immense dairy and made a million pounds of butter and a million pounds of cheese yearly.

The Yankee, perceiving that his veracity was in danger of being questioned, appealed to a friend.

"True, isn't it, Mr. —? I speak of Deacon Brown?"

"Yes," replied the friend. "That is, I know Deacon Brown, though I don't know as I ever heard precisely how many pounds of butter and cheese he makes in a year, but I know he has 12 sawmills that all go by buttermilk!"

Very Modest

Scribbles, the editor of the Mudville Scrapper, was a modest man. He believed in modesty—even in journalism. He thought it paid no better for a newspaper than for a man to be continually bragging.

A prospectus was once drawn up for him by a local publisher. It contained several blatantly boastful paragraphs in it, and Scribbles ran his pencil through them all.

"If I let this go," he said, "it would be pretty nearly as bad as the epitaph that the young widow carved on her aged husband's tomb. The epitaph read:

"Here lies the memory of John James Greer, aged 81, who departed this life bitterly regretting that he must leave forever the most beautiful and best of wives."

The Boss

The boss is a peculiar man. He thinks he knows his biz. And says when anything goes wrong, "How he can talk! Gee-whizz!"

He lets it go, straight from the bat.—Yes, sir, his talk is strong.—And somehow, when the next time

That thing does not go wrong.

The boss, he sometimes has a grouch. And then we all look out. I tell you what, it pays you then to know what you're about. But, on the other hand, sometimes he has his pleasant days.

"Sacred! he acts just like I do. To give us all a raise."

I don't expect, of course, my life to be as long as his. You see, I haven't got up yet, as yet.

I'm just the office-boy. But I don't mind; I do my work.—Now I am just the office-boy. But some day I'll be boss!

Rough and Ragged Shave

"I'll stop shaving," declared dad, as he appeared at the breakfast table with sundry pieces of comestibles decorating his face. "I cut myself more and more every day."

"Why not get a safety razor?" asked George, who had lately commenced to shave himself. "It's over so quick. I'll lend you mine to try and show how it works."

Father agreed to make the experiment. Next morning, however, when he reached the breakfast table his face was more torn and cut than ever.

"Hang your safety razor!" he growled. "It hurts more than my old shaver."

George said: "Why I had to pull like the dickens, and when at last I did manage to get the hair off I brought the skin off as well."

George was mystified. His safety was a razor to swear by and he determined to investigate. He entered the bathroom and unlocked with laughter. When the family had administered first aid he explained:

"No wonder you had such a bad time with the safety razor, dad! He growled, 'You forgot to put the blade in.'—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

That even the dyspeptic should be a little more cheerful on payday.

That when Charlie can't find the guilty one, he blames Raymond.

That camp owners had better take their valuables home with them.

That women's work is never done and some men's work is never well done.

That now is the time to fill the coal bin, for the price of fuel will go up soon.

That doing a little more every day and feeling refreshed at night is doing some.

That Marcel Chenevert caught a 50-pound marlin somewhere in Beaver brook.

That if the jinnys gave transfers they would increase their business considerably.

That it is a long time that has no turning and a lonesome time that has no lover.

That there is no truth to the report about the mayor and the big chief going to war.

That a grand old couple will observe their golden wedding at the armory this evening.

That Judge Hadley was busy receiving the best wishes of friends on his 55th birthday.

That playing headlights are not so numerous but there are still some that need trimming.

That the lawn of the Immaculate Conception church is green when most lawns are gray.

That it is bad business to put off until tomorrow what should have been done last week.

That Capt. George E. Worthen has one of the best military records in this part of the country.

That we would all see the clairvoyant if he could make good on that 500 per cent proposition.

That there are great chances for property development around the Dunmer street extension.

That some doctors believe the high cost of living is responsible for the increase in heart disease.

That whether the cornet is a musical instrument or not depends upon the fellow who is playing it.

That a lecturer on "Current Topics" is bound to antagonize half his hearers if he has any positive views.

That several Lowell fellows were looking for families faces in a group picture in a Boston Sunday paper.

That there is some speculation as to how many revolutions a wheel will make before it develops a hot box.

That a man who never worries about anything is not a pleasant life, but other people have to worry for him.

That Assistant City Clerk McCarthy refused a job last week, that of uniting a couple in the bonds of matrimony.

That the Y.M.C.A. directors are looking forward to a time when membership campaigns will be unnecessary.

That the fellow who pulls in fake fire alarms may be one of those who tips the ministers off on infractions of the law.

That people who are bored most when they are alone are generally bored to other people when they are in company.

That many believe it is exorbitant to charge six cents for a car ride from the Vesper Country club to the Tyngsboro bridge.

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS

Struggled with Sickness and Discouragement; How Relieved.

Dayville, Killingly, Conn.—"I shall be glad to have every woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Although I am only 24 years old, I have suffered for the past eight years, I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage where I was playing with my husband. I had bearing down pains, my health failed me, and I could not work on the stage, and wasn't able to tend my baby or even get around myself. I was always downhearted and discontented with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet little town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Dayville in November. At that time I was so sick I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed. One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my household work. I felt contented and happy, and now am the picture of health, and am tempted to return to the stage. We appreciate my health as the most precious thing on earth."—Mrs. H. L. KLENNETT, Box 85, Killingly, Conn.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Columbia university has arranged to extend its educational advantages to the residents of five cities outside of New York. They are Springfield, Mass., Stamford, Conn., Scranton, Pa., Paterson, N. J., and Yonkers, N. Y. It is announced also that Bridgeport, Conn., probably will be included, but the plans for that city have not been completed. In those cities courses will be given under Columbia professors with academic credit where desired. History, English, education, social economy and geography are to be included in the courses given at these centres.

PROHIBITION SPECIAL IS ROBBED AT BUFFALO

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 23.—If the persons who have been carrying trains away from the prohibition special train as it has moved 15,000 miles around the United States in the last six weeks will cease their activities, Oliver W. Stewart, manager of the campaign party, will be much obliged.

They started by stealing a large quantity of breakfast food, a trunk and a bathrobe. Then J. Frank Hanly's overcoat disappeared. His cap followed. Then his hat went, though it must be admitted that to balance this another Railroad detectives failed in their search, but Saturday a hansom cab leaped upon the platform, the train, and Stewart was somewhat cheered in the belief that he had found a mascot, and that the thefts would cease. Yesterday the cab disappeared although train attendants maintain they carefully looked it in a room. The candidates rested here yesterday and last night they left for Olean where the New York campaign will resume today.
